

Well Known Mill Man Arrested Today

PRES. OF AMERICAN WOOLEN CO.
Charged With Dynamite Conspiracy During the Strike in Lawrence Surrendered to Police
and Bail Was Fixed at $5000

BOSTON, Aug. 30.—President William A. Wood of the American Woollen Co. was arrested today on an indictment charging him with conspiring to distribute dynamite in Lawrence during the general strike in that city last January.

President Wood surrendered himself to the authorities and was accompanied by counsel.

The American Woollen Co., which bore the brunt of the great mill strike in Lawrence, controls 25 manufacturing plants in New England and New York state. About 15,000 persons are on the payrolls of the company's mills in Lawrence.

President Wood is one of the best known mill men in the country. He was born in Edgartown of Azorean Portuguese parents. The family moved to New Bedford when Wood was an infant and there he was educated and learned the details of textile manufacturing while working as a clerk and millhand. Later he mastered the details of the banking business and participated in the reorganization of several Fall River mills. Wood later became an official of the Washington Mills, Lawrence, now one of the plants of the American Woollen Co., which he with other business associates organized. Mr. Wood married a daughter of Dr. Frederick Ayer, a wealthy medical compounder of Lowell.

Story of Investigation

The first public knowledge that the Suffolk county authorities had taken action in connection with the Lawrence dynamite case came on Tuesday last. It was then learned that District Attorney Pelletier had directed the grand jury to investigate reports that a conspiracy to secretly plant dynamite in Lawrence had been formed by certain persons, including Boston men, for the alleged purpose of ending the strike by threatening the public to think that the members of labor unions were using dynamite in their conduct of the strike. Several officials of Lawrence mills with head offices in this city were summoned to give testimony before the grand jury and appear before that body on Tuesday. On the same day Ernest W. Pitman, a contractor and builder, who constructed the Wood Worsted mills at Lawrence committed suicide at his home in Andover. Mr. Pelletier later said that Pitman had talked with him concerning the alleged "planting" of dynamite in Lawrence last winter and that he had been summoned to testify before the grand jury as to what he knew of the matter. Pitman left no note or other word as to his reason for shooting himself. Some of his friends attributed the suicide to worry over financial affairs, while other persons expressed the belief that he had killed himself rather than testify regarding the dynamite case. Yesterday the grand jury returned two indictments, both secret. Dennis J. Collins, a Cambridge door-fancier, was named in one of the indictments, charged with having transported dynamite unlawfully and with having placed the explosive in a railroad passenger car for transportation. Earlier in the day Collins had appeared before the grand jury and shortly after the indictments had been handed down he was arrested. He was held in $1500 for a hearing next Tuesday and in default of bail was taken to the county jail.

Furnished Bail of $5000

After the formalities had been arranged, Wood furnished cash bail of $5000.

President Wood learned yesterday that he had been indicted in connection with the Lawrence investigation and once consulted his counsel, Samuel Powers. It was arranged that the two should appear at police headquarters at 2:30 P. M. Wood and Mr. Powers arrived at Pemberton square in an automobile and went immediately to the bureau of criminal investigation, where the papers in the case were served. Wood received the warrant from Capt. Armstrong of the bureau.

After remaining ten minutes at the bureau of criminal investigation, Wood and the lawyer crossed the square to the courthouse and entered the office of Dist. Atty. Pelletier. Mr. Pelletier was not in, but Asst. Dist. Atty. McIsaac conferred at length with Mr. Wood and his attorney.

Bail Commissioner Dyer was called to the office and accepted five one thousand dollar bills as the amount of bail.

Will Be Arraigned Tuesday

It is understood that Wood will be formally arraigned in the superior court next Tuesday.

The head of the American Woollen Co. did not appear disturbed during the proceedings. At the conclusion of his conference with McIsaac he made the following statement:

"Of course I am greatly surprised by the action of the grand jury. I cannot conceive what information could have been presented to the jurors which in any way connected me with the so-called dynamite plot. I certainly had no connection with it and this fact will be fully established at the proper time to the satisfaction of the public and even the district attorney. Beyond this I have nothing to say.

Three Men Were Named

It was announced that the second indictment named three men. With the arrest of Wood today it became known that he was one of the three.

The discovery of dynamite in a Syrian lodging house, a cobbler's shop and cemetery in Lawrence last January while the textile strike was at its height caused a sensation. The strike leaders denied that they had any intention of using any explosive to further their plans and charged that the dynamite had been "planted" for the purpose of discrediting the labor unions. Several Syrians arrested charged with having dynamite in their possession unlawfully were discharged in the police court.

Soon afterward John J. Green, a Lawrence undertaker and a member of the Lawrence school committee, was arrested on a charge of having unlawfully placed the dynamite in the place where it was found. One of the sticks of explosive had been wrapped in a piece of paper which formed part of an undertaker's magazine bearing Green's name and address. Green was found guilty and fined $500. No further court action was taken in the case until the Suffolk county proceedings were started this week.

ANOTHER DISASTER

CARS PLUNGED INTO RAVINE AND ONE MAN WAS KILLED

TEMPLE, Texas, Aug. 30.—One man was killed, two seriously hurt and a slightly injured today when a north-bound Missouri, Kansas & Texas railroad train jumped the track three miles north of here and the mail car and two coaches plunged from a trestle into a ravine.

CANOE CAPSIZED

AND GOREHAM GROCER IS AMONG THE MISSING

GOREHAM, Me., Aug. 30.—William Edwards, 35, a grocer at South Goreham is believed to have been drowned early today by the capsizing of a canoe by wind and wave in Lovewell's pond at Fryeburg, where he had been boarding for a few weeks. The canoe capsized and his cap was found an hour after he left camp with two large dogs to obtain water from a spring.

O. M. I. CADETS HAVING GREAT TIME

THE CAMP STREET

In Camp at Wilmington—"O'Sullivan Day" Observed Yesterday With Large Attendance—Boys Break Camp Tomorrow

The O. M. I. Cadets are certainly enjoying their annual encampment at Wilmington, despite the rather chilly atmospheric conditions, since they had spent and anticipating the young soldiers, retired to their tents at 9:30 and while many slept in the khaki uniforms, others felt quite comfortable in their regular sleeping apparel. Shortly after the taps had been sounded the lights were extinguished in the camps and all were soon in the land of nod, forgetting that it was cold, and thinking of the enjoyable day they had spent and anticipating the joys of the two remaining days. The cadets were up bright and early today, and many went to Silver Lake and had a dip, while others engaged in the National game, until the signal for mess was given. After eating, the regular routine as was published in these columns on Tuesday was carried out.

Yesterday, however, was the banner day of the encampment, for the boys were visited by Humphrey O'Sullivan, Major Robert J. Crowley, Dr. T. F. Harrington of Boston, Judge Enright.

QUESTION OF $35,000 ADDITION

To Greenhalge School Considered by Council—More Rooms Required for Pupils

An adjourned meeting of the municipal council was held this forenoon and considerable business was transacted. The principal matter of interest was the question of the proposed $35,000 for a six-room addition to the Greenhalge school, and after some discussion on the subject, it was voted to let the matter go over to the next meeting.

The meeting was called to order at 10:25 o'clock by Mayor O'Donnell with all members present, but Alderman Barrett. The first matter taken up was a communication from Supt. A. Whitcomb relative to the proposed addition of the Greenhalge school. In his letter the superintendent stated that there was an attendance of 517 pupils last year at the school with an increase of 50 over the previous year, and that in all probability there would be another increase this year. He also stated that at least six more rooms would be needed to accommodate the children of that district. The communication was placed on file.

Commissioner Donnelly presented his revised list of precinct officers to serve at the coming primaries and elections and the same which is published in another column was accepted as presented.

The Boy State Street railway company presented a petition for a permit to extend and alter or relocate its tracks in Middlesex street between Burnside and Packer streets, and the petition was referred to the commissioner of streets and highways and a hearing was set for Sept. 17 at 2 p. m.

The next matter taken up was the proposed $35,000 loan for a six-room addition to the Greenhalge school, the said money to be paid in 20 annual payments.

Commissioner Cummings stated he was in favor of the loan and recommended the same. He spoke at length on the question, saying that he was one who attended the hearing at the school some time ago. Upon his advice the school board visited some of the temporary structures which are being used in Boston as school houses, but he said these reports were not favorable. He said the school board examined what was needed and they accepted the plans prepared by Architect Henry L. Bourne, with a cost for a six-room addition, each room to cost about $5000. Mr. Cummings also stated that he interviewed Rev. J. N. Jager, pastor of St. Louis' parish relative to an addition to the parish school which would greatly relieve the district, but he said the priest told him he did not contemplate any addition for the present time.

Mr. Cummings in the course of his remarks said the pupils of the Lawrence avenue school may possibly be shifted to the Greenhalge school if the latter is enlarged inasmuch as many of the parents complain that the school is very unsatisfactory. "I desire all information possible for the council," continued Mr. Cummings, "and I do not desire to borrow large sums, unless it is absolutely needed. We are delaying the building of the addition it means considerable for the children. There are now two classrooms in the building, which are only separated with a thin partition and it is impossible for the teachers to carry on their work in a satisfactory manner. I found if the building is erected it can be done in three or four months and I favor borrowing the amount needed and start work immediately."

Mayor O'Donnell said he was in favor of the proposed addition, but in asmuch as the school would not be ready until March, he favored delaying for some time in order to save probably $1000 in interest. He also said the council had been very generous in loans this year and if this proposed loan was voted it would bring them closer to the debt limit, and he suggested that the matter rest until January and do the borrowing on next year's account.

Commissioner Cummings moved the passage of the ordinance, but inasmuch as the motion was not seconded, the mayor moved and it was so voted to let the matter rest until the next meeting, Mr. Cummings voting against.

Another important question brought before the meeting was that of an ordinance providing a penalty for whoever maliciously calls the ambulance on a false alarm. This was brought about by a complaint brought to the mayor by Dr. J. H. Sparks, who supervises the ambulance service, and who claims the ambulance often responds to false alarm calls. It was voted to instruct the city solicitor to draw up an ordinance to that effect.

The bonds of Treasurer A. G. Stiles, furnished by the National Security Co., which had been accepted by the city solicitor, but not by the council, were this morning approved and accepted.

Commissioner Cummings then took up the matter of the vaults for police records which are to be installed in the police court building in Market st., said no one in city hall need fear that vaults will be installed in the building, for contrary to reports to that effect the state authorities would not permit it. The vaults at the police station at the request of the county commissioners are being delayed for some time until the return of Clerk Savage of the police court, for with the installing of the vaults some of the windows of the building will have to be closed and the selection of those windows is being left to the clerk. "I want authority in behalf of the council," said Mr. Cummings, "to get the county commissioners to sign a 10 year lease for rental of the court room and that such rental fees be increased, this to be left to the judgment of the council." At this point the mayor suggested that the city solicitor draw up an agreement with the county commissioners, and so that they agree to take a lease and may the price wanted. A vote was taken and the result was in the negative.

Commissioner Donnelly was granted leave to purchase 100 barrels of tar for the street department and also to sell 32 worth of dynamite to a local contractor. Commissioner Cummings was granted permission to remove a building in the Edison cemetery from one place to another, the cost of said removal not to exceed $100. The meeting was adjourned at 11 o'clock until 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

Go and enjoy yourself, hunting park.

LIEUT. BECKER'S DEFENCE

Given Severe Jolt by Lawyer March

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—The defense set up in behalf of Police Lieutenant Becker, alleged instigator of the Roosevelt murder, and accused of gambling graft, that he accumulated his fortune of nearly $100,000 through stock speculation, was punctured yesterday when James E. March, the lawyer, declared before the grand jury that there was no truth in the statements attributed to him that he generated the police officers' stock speculations.

March had been quoted as saying that he and Becker had a joint account and that as a result of his tips Becker had made thousands through deals in Erie, Interborough, Rapid Transit and other stocks.

When the lawyer was first questioned by the grand jury, he appeared to have told, in a general way, that he acted for Becker in stock transactions, but could not furnish specific details. He added that he had acted in a similar capacity for others, naming an Italian banker. This banker was immediately apprehended and appeared before the grand jury. March was then recalled, and after being closely questioned by the jury, stated that he had never conducted any deals for Becker worth mentioning.

District Attorney Whitman received information yesterday which leads him to believe that "Lefty Louie" and "Lefty Brown," the missing things wanted as the actual slayers of Roosevelt, are being kept in hiding near New York by police friends of Lieutenant Becker. The prosecutor heard that it was planned to produce them at the proper time as witnesses for the lieutenant.

"Lefty Louie," he was told, is anxious to testify that Harry Vallon was the man who fired the shots that killed Roosevelt and would disclose a motive on Vallon's part for wanting to kill the gambler.

Another report came to the district attorney yesterday to the effect that the missing men called Tuesday for Europe, having been in hiding in the city ever since the murder.

Thomas Compe, an eye witness of the murder, who testified before the grand jury, has mysteriously disappeared and Mr. Whitman says that he had called for Europe. The prosecutor declared last night that Compe's testimony could be exposed, but expressed the fear that some of his more important witnesses might be spirited away likewise. He had no legal way of detaining them, he added.

Becker's trial is expected to begin before any testimony is taken in the John Doe proceedings before Justice Goff to expose police corruption.

After formally opening the proceedings Tuesday, Justice Goff will adjourn them until Sept. 11, when the special grand jury will be impaneled. Testimony of value for the John Doe investigation will be developed, it is expected, during the Becker trial.

There is a strong probability, it was intimated at the district attorney's office yesterday, that both Mayor Gaynor and Police Commissioner Waldo will be called as witnesses during the investigation.

The report that James W. Osborne, a well known criminal lawyer, had been engaged as special counsel to assist in the investigation was declared by Mr. Whitman yesterday to be untrue.

DEPLORE TIPPING SYSTEM
BOSTON, August 29.—Officers of Boston Local, International Hotel Workers' Union, the organization of which the Hotel Touraine employees, who were out on strike, are members, declared in a signed statement issued yesterday that conditions objectionable to them exist in nearly all the hotels of this city. The tipping system is deplored, but declared necessary under present conditions.

Among the charges are that the food served to waiters is of such a poor quality that the waiters are forced to purchase their meals outside the hotel, and that the waiters are compelled to act as agents for the purchase of children's parties. The waiters are frequently fined sums varying from 25 cents to a dollar for trifling matters, according to the statement. The statement reads:

"A waiter who gives a free to his waiter's box from his own free will, and is a very low small amount for the waiter to give, is thanked for it. So it is in substance the word of many a sign posted in hotel and restaurant countries.

"Many a waiter has been discharged at a moment's notice for not having bowed to a patron, thanks to a party of guests who had failed to contribute liberally toward the cost of his day's wages. What a lowering of American standards to be dependent upon the generosity of your fellow citizens for hard work faithfully performed, and which, in every season, summer and winter, should be paid for by your employer.

NOT YET RELIEVED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—Judge R. W. Archibald of the commerce court, whose trial under impeachment proceedings is pending before the senate, has asked Chief Justice White of the United States supreme court, to temporarily relieve him of duty.

Chief Justice White has thus far refused to action upon the request of Judge Archibald. The physiology of the court creating the commerce court appears to be antagonistic as to the course of the case against the "Redhead" judge of the court from duty.

He has made that in case of the court's resignation or termination of the trial of Judge White, the court will be left in a state of disorganization.

The case against the commerce court judge is to be decided by the senate, and the case against the commerce court judge is to be decided by the senate.

ANCIENT RECORD LOST
BOSTON, Aug. 29.—City Hall officials are disturbed over the possibility of the loss of the "School Record" of a valuable Revolutionary war publication.

The missing publication gives the names of the Revolutionary soldiers from Boston and is being sought by the Bostonian society. This organization wishes the publication to be included in its priceless collection.

The document in question was supposed to be somewhere among the records of the assessors' Chairman Murphy of the assessing board, who has been over a quarter of a century in that branch of the city service, says, however, that he has never heard of the publication in question.

He has never heard of the publication in question.

SOME FINE RACING AT READVILLE

Esther W. Won Massachusetts Stake Race Yesterday After a Hard Battle

READVILLE, Aug. 30.—Esther W. who was there saw a genuine old-fashioned Massachusetts battle; one of those desperately fought races that have made winning this event one of the coveted honors of the entire season.

The Massachusetts has not in years furnished such an exciting contest and the victory of Esther W. was a very popular one. She topped the summary because of that rare combination which is necessary when a field of first class, evenly matched trotters meet, speed, stamina and faultless handling.

The public was pleased to see New England's foremost reinsman riding in front in this important turf fixture, while the blood of the old guard was made to tingle as O'Connell surprised everyone by bringing his pupil from behind in the first two heats.

Taken as a whole, the racing was the best that Readville has had in a long time. There was an interesting colt race won by Seneca from Will Spruce stable and a four-heat racing race that had the crowd on tiptoe with every finish. This was won by Baron A. a handsome stallion Cox is campaigning for Daniel T. Hart of Waterbury, Conn.

The time in this race was not fast for the class, but the last end of every mile was paced better than a two-mile.

Three Candidates for the Governorship of Vermont

BURLINGTON, Vt., Aug. 30.—Much interest is manifested in the state election to be held Tuesday, Sept. 3, and it is generally believed that the vote will give a fairly accurate idea of the alignment of the political parties this year.

Harold B. Howe, an attorney of St. Johnsbury, is the democratic candidate. He has made an active campaign, and a few of his sanguine friends say he will be elected. He does not make any such claim himself. A. M. Fletcher, the Taft republican candidate, is a wealthy corporation promoter, and it is expected that he will be elected. The Rev. Francis Merz is the progressive candidate, and the bull moose advocate declare he will have more votes than either of his opponents. C. F. Smith is the prohibition candidate, with the grange backing him.

ute gait and in two heats, Baron A. came from the three-quarters home in 27 1/2 seconds, with Longworth B. at his head twice and Eddie Dillard once.

Murphy got the decision in the first heat with Longworth B. in a driving finish that alone would have made the afternoon at the track well worth while.

The call for the Massachusetts candidates brought six to the post. Carpenter drawing Annie Kohl at the first minute. This half dozen are all that are left of the more than two score trotters eligible to the class in the spring, whose owners counted them as stake colts.

Baden, 2:04 1/2, the leading money winning trotter of the year, bred by William Russell Allen of Pittsfield and driven by A. S. Bodner, was fortunate enough to secure the pole. Bodner's dam was next, Esther W. in third place, Oakdale fourth, Merigold fifth and Derby Boy outside.

Esther W. bothered a lot in scoring and Cox finally took her outside. She matched outside to the front at the word and the gray set the pace for nearly the entire mile. Going up the back side, Rodney moved Baden along, being content to remain lapped on the leader.

Coming out of the upper turn Baden started to step by Oakdale, but was soon off his stride and it looked to be a race between the gray fellow, Esther W. and Derby Boy. Esther, however, refused to try, while Derby Boy could not trot fast enough.

There had Dorah Medium in hand and she was responding to the suggestive touch in a manner that set the crowd wild. Out in the middle of the track she tore along so rapidly that Oakdale could not save himself, and the daughter of Red Medium had a new record of 2:07 1/2.

Baden was away, n-bodding in the second heat, Esther W. broke on the turn, but Cox soon had her back on her stride and the set sail for the Niagara home. With the brush of a favor she overhauled him, but he was ready for her.

Around the upper turn they raced lapped, with an open tenth advantage over their lead at the three-quarters. Stride for stride they came through the stretch. Baden rose always a bit in front.

Again Baden brought the Medium mare along with a rush. Baden tried to sell her off fast, and it was Esther W. that paid attention to the rallying word of Cox.

"Baden is leading" said the crowd followers. So he was, but not as easily as it then appeared. Cox had Esther W. waiting when Frank Walker shouted "Go!" for the third heat and Snow was equally in a hurry with Oakdale.

Going into the turn, the gelding stepped by the mare, but going out of it into the back side Esther showed in front. Coming into the stretch, Baden had joined the race and it was a sparkling battle to the finish. With her mind on the task in hand it was comfortable for the attractive descendant of Director to trot the last two furlongs in 31 1/2 seconds, with Baden clinging to her side, feature like the grand, good race horse that he is.

The mile was a 2:04 1/2, a new mark for Esther W. Dorah Medium finished as before a-flying, but the clip was too fast for her.

Baden sent Baden after Esther W. from the start in the fourth heat and the rivals raced lapped until the station jumped when within 50 yards of the finish. Both trotters were under a drive and just as Esther W. seemed to hang, Baden left his feet.

The fifth heat saw Esther W. in front all the way, but never with a lead that made her followers feel easy. Baden was surely beaten when they swung into the stretch, but Dorah Medium was dangerous. She tried hard to catch Esther and needless to say she had all the time it was possible for a driver to give a horse, but she could not reach and Cox had his first Massachusetts victory in.

Seneca, the granddaughter of Patton, had the foot of the 12-year-old who raced in the Placina purse, but not enough more than Sox De Forest and Peter Scott to make the race an interesting one.

The racing race was a dandy one to watch, Cox driving a winning race with Baron A. being the first heat then winning by light of free-for-all speed through the stretch.

CLAY CENTRE, Kan., Aug. 30.—Owners of the Wallace-Hagenbeck show which showed in Clay Centre Friday will think this town is their unlucky town. About four years ago they exhibited in Clay Centre and a little dog barking at the elephants stampeded the herd.

When the show was here the other day a man was thrown from a horse and trampled on by other horses. A big wagon was stuck on the road leading to the grounds and when an effort was made to pull it out a bee's nest was stirred up.

The elephants also got a dose of the bees' medicine.

PARADE IN HONOR OF MARSHALL

Big Reception to Indiana's Governor in Maine--Closed Four Day's Speaking Tour

LEWISTON, Me., Aug. 29.—Gov. Francis B. Marshall of Indiana, accompanied by his wife and daughter, arrived in Lewiston today for a four-day speaking tour. The governor was met by a large crowd of citizens and a band. He will speak at Lewiston, Bangor, and Calais, and will return to Indiana on Monday.

trusts from what he called the "humanitarian" point of view. He said in part:

"The statement that in the beginning vast combinations of capital could, by reducing overhead charges, and by various other means, lessen the cost to the consumer, was probably true. They could, but they did not. Still, all my protests go back to the humanitarian as more important even than the economic. The greatest objection to the trust is that it closes the door of opportunity on the young man. To this statement, the answer is made that there are $10,000, $20,000 and $30,000 jobs awaiting men of these grades, and I suspect this statement is true, but what of it?"

"Suppose I could make $10,000 a year as manager of a trust, but suppose my happiness would be promoted by managing a little business of my own out of which I might not make even $500. And suppose—what is true—that I should be prevented by the trusts from running my little business and should be broken up if I tried to run it. I have not then been deprived of the one thing in life that this republic ought to give a man his chance to be happy?"

"If this system continues there will be great captains of finance and industry who will waste through slaughter to a throne and shut the gates of mercy on mankind. They will take the young men of today and crush out every little bit of personal ambition, which these young men may have, and make of them only cogs in a great industrial system, and our boasted democracy where men were free will cease to exist save in name."

"Too long have we contemplated about riches as the source of happiness. Contentment is the great thing for a people and no people can be content whose men may not engage in any business that they choose, which is not immoral in its character, and may be a man is hindered in the failure of his own plans than he would be in the success of a system."

RAPPED ROOSEVELT

PORTLAND, Me., Aug. 29.—Emil Seidel, candidate for vice president on the socialist party ticket, addressed a large rally in the Portland city hall last evening. He attacked the other big parties and declared that they offered no adequate solution of the present difficulties that face the people of this country, but that the only remedy was to be found in socialism, which proposes to take over the trusts.

Mr. Seidel referred to Colonel Roosevelt, and said that he had had a long talk with the former president, called these "bad" trusts contributed to his campaign, and those that did not were the "bad" trusts.

RINGS TEAR STOCKINGS

Many women who wear silk stockings complain of small rips and breaks in the stockings. Just the stockings are faulty of make, but this is not always the difficulty. The cause of the little break often comes from running one's hand within the stockings while they are on the fingers. These rings and the stones in them catch the tiny threads and break them, causing the damage.

Small accounts solicited and appreciated at the Old Lowell National bank.

STRIKE AT NEW HOTEL

Chamber Maids Demand Many Changes

BOSTON, Aug. 29.—The new Coppley Plaza hotel is threatened with a chambermaid strike. If it goes into effect, Manager J. C. LaVine says he will get into the harness himself, making beds and doing other work of the chambermaids, before he would receive Edward Blochinger of the International Hotel Workers' union, local 6, or anyone else representing the union.

He had just received and returned by the same messenger boy, a letter from Organizer Blochinger, which he said he had not read and was not interested in.

The letter, it is said, contained a notice from the organizer that unless certain working conditions of the chambermaids and laundry workers of the hotel were changed a strike would be called immediately.

Mr. Blochinger's letter declares these girls get for a monthly salary only $18. They have to sleep in a bed, and 10 to a room, and the lower part of the window of this room is nailed down. Each girl, he says, is entitled to a separate bed and, if possible, a separate room.

Their long day totals 14 hours and their short day 11 hours, which he says violates chapter 181, acts of 1911. "No woman shall be employed in a factory, workshop or manufacturing establishment more than 10 hours in any one day," he says. "In no case shall the hours of labor exceed 54 in a week."

He contends that these girls come within the spirit of this law.

The food furnished to the girls, he says, is of poor quality, poorly served and, at times, only to be procured when the girls are busy with their regular work.

Furthermore, he says, the house-keepers tyrannize over the girls, who are entirely at their mercy. He asks an appointment with the management of the Coppley-Plaza to discuss these and other grievances.

A reporter called at the hotel and showed Manager LaVine a copy of Blochinger's letter. "I received one of these a short time ago," said Manager LaVine, "but when I noticed the signature I replaced it unopened in the envelope and returned it to the sender. It was nothing I was interested in."

"You may say for me and put it just as strongly as you wish, that we will never recognize the International Hotel Workers' union. We will close the dining rooms first. My directors have authorized me to act according to my own ideas in any such emergency and my ideas prompt me not to honor any interference from this man or any others like him."

"I have given my employees here everything that they have asked within reason. I see no reason why I should grant them anything further than I have given them already. There will be no strike, but if there is it will make no difference. There have been some little disputes since work was started and I have settled them all without trouble. I will win any strikes that may follow. If my present help goes out others will come in."

Is This Why English Beauties Are So Fair?

History demonstrates beyond all question the fact that in a country where institutions are based on suffrage the government will be a government by parties, or, as Mr. Speaker Johnson is fond of putting it, "by majority." It does not make a particle of difference whether we want it that

The history of both Great Britain and America proves two or three things. First, that in a country where institutions are based on slavery there will always be two great parties, and for more than two great parties at the same time. Furthermore, in such a country one will run the government just about as long as the other. On the 4th of next month, the government will have been in existence 221 years under the constitution. During that time, Senator John Quincy Adams as a Democrat—and he was elected as such—the Democrats have been in control of the government 60 years out of the 121, and all other parties—counting John Tyler, a Whig and Andrew Johnson as a republican—have had control of it for 61 years, so that at last, it is our turn again. Of course, it is very hard to classify John Quincy Adams, John Tyler and Andrew Johnson politically, but Adams was elected by the Whigs and Johnson was elected by the Democrats for the purposes of history Tyler must be considered as a Whig and Johnson as a republican.

At the present time at least five parties are in the field with candidates for the presidency—the democratic party headed by Gov. Woodrow Wilson, the Republican party headed by President William Howard Taft, the progressive party headed by ex-President Theodore Roosevelt, the socialist ticket by Mr. Eugene V. Debs and the prohibition ticket by Mr. Chas. There may be other minor parties which I have forgotten.

These five parties have formulated and published a platform of principles which it proposes to enact into law if it gets the chance.

During Queen Victoria's reign of 60 years the political complexion of the

What is a platform anyway? It ought to be a plain and honest statement of what these who make it intend to do if they are given the power of legislation. It ought to be, not merely a contrivance to get it on, but a statement of what one would do if elected. It ought to be not merely a device to use during the campaign for the purpose of catching votes, but should set forth the serious intentions of its framers. Men should mean what they say and say what they mean without any hedging or mental reservations or purpose of evasion. It should be as plain as daylight and putter in the voters in a double sense, explaining the word of promise to the elector, but breaking it to the hope. The American people deserve to be dealt with honestly, fairly and candidly and not to be deceived. Pledges made in an election should be religiously kept and not broken. There should be only one kind of political conduct that is to live by or to die by. There is no reason why a man should be dishonest and a double dealer in politics more than in the other rela-

the habit of making platforms. Every one seems to be growing on political life, and they discuss in their platform most of the questions of human interest. Of course as more inventions are made which bring men into a closer relationship, and render it more intimate, the questions in our land throughout the world, the questions to be considered by the congress will be multiplied.

For instance, when I first came to congress, the committee on commerce, interest and foreign commerce in that importance ranked below several committees, but in that score of years circumstances have so changed, that questions of commerce have been multiplied that it now ranks among the most pertinent committees in the house. I am of the opinion that in not far distant future it will be the most important committee of the tariff question, like the poor, we will have as always. The first general principle to which George Washington fixed his signature was a tariff bill. During his entire career under the constitution that bill has tormented the front at frontals as the great question of the day. By discussing it many men have secured enduring reputations. Several sections on it has overthrown political parties. It has never been finally settled and it never will be finally settled until it is settled right.

While the platform discusses and refers to a multitude of things, some of chief importance, all of more or less importance, the American public is not to be misled on such a plan that it will not seriously consider one than one, or two, or three. The platform of the Republican party, as given by Mr. Taft, Governor and President Taft, in their speeches of acceptance have made the chief topic of thought in the minds of the voters of the land. Col. Sevier in his speeches also attaches chief importance to the subject, and the platform is not for handling it. The people are agreed that it is one of the greatest importance to every human being living under the flag, rich or poor, great or small.

your for the present Col. Roosevelt's scheme of settlement, the position of the two great parties may be neatly stated in this way; the democrats are in favor of a tariff for revenue; the republicans are in favor of a tariff for protection. Upon these two platforms are explicit. In each plank of all the democratic platforms the idea of revenue has been found, not always expressed in the same language, but always existing the same idea. Likewise, the republican platforms all declare for a protective tariff.

tariff plank of our platform this is expressed in the following language:

"We declare it to be a fundamental principle of the democratic party that a federal government, under the constitution, has no right or power to impose or collect tariff duties except for purpose of revenue, and we demand that the collection of such taxes be limited to the necessities of government honestly and economically administered."

rich republican tariff is the cause of the unequal distribution of it. It is a system of taxation which makes the rich richer and the poor poorer. Under our operations the farmer and laboring man are the chief sufferers. It raises the cost of necessities of life to them, but does not protect their products or their property. The farmer sells largely in free markets and buys almost entirely in protected markets. In our manufacturing and mining and other protected industries, such as iron and wool, steel and iron, the cost of the laborer are the lowest of any of our industries. We do not protect the farmer and the laborer by the republican pretense on that account and these industries are established by competitive means and not by the tariff.

O. M. I. CADETS Continued

Rev. James McKenna, O. M. I. superior of the Tuftsbury hall, Dr. William T. Collins, Dr. William Collins, Mr. John Martin, of Everett, the latter an uncle of Rev. Denis A. Sullivan of the cadets, and many others. It is estimated that over 4000 people called at the grounds during the day, the guests did not arrive until four o'clock in the afternoon, but prior to the "big time" the young "vets" had a great time.

There were several ball games on during the day, but the one of 7 innings between the Boston Campers and the O. M. I. Cadets proved one of the most interesting contests ever seen at the grove. The game was replete with through the "lowering of the colors." This was done with remarkable cleverness and ease, showing the great training that the boys have received. During the entire program the music was furnished by the Cadets' band, and the selections were very pleasing.

After going through the work, Fr. Sullivan waived to Major Haggerty, who gave the command, "halt." They all then faced the guests and Fr. Sullivan spoke in behalf of the young soldiers, telling how they appreciated the many favors conferred on them by Mr. O'Sullivan and how they treasured his friendship and his visits to them during the past. The speaker told how the suggestion to confer the commission of honorary colonel spectacular plays, by members of both teams, and the result was not determined until the last inning, when the score stood 3 to 5 in favor of the Boston campers. In the lineup of the winners some very familiar faces were noticed. Wright, a former leaguer, was on the mound and four players who were in the Greater Boston league at the opening of the season, were again with the victors. While the Cadets were much younger and lighter than their opponents they put up a great game, and the athletic instructor, Mat McCann, was well pleased with the showing his charges made.

Other members of the regiment engaged in running and jumping while more part on the river, and a series of "greetings." The swimming pool at Silver Lake was visited by some of the equate performers, and more played other field games.

At 3:30 o'clock, Military Instructor Lieut. Edward McArdle gave the signal to the buglers to announce the upon Mr. O'Sullivan was accepted, saying that the boys gave a "tiger." He said that all were grateful to him for his work and at the conclusion of the day, Major Haggerty turning the regiment over to the colonel.

Again there was a cheer and then the colonel spoke. He thanked the boys for the honor they had bestowed upon him in making him an honorary colonel and assured them that he would always obey orders. He said that whatever he did for the cadets, was because he took a great interest in them and their work. He further said that they should always live up to the teachings of their superior and he paid a great tribute to their chaplain, Rev. Fr. Sullivan and their other superiors. He said he regretted that he could not spend an evening with the boys, but it would be impossible at this time. He again thanked the boys and congratulated them, after which he dismissed the regiment.

assembly call, and Major Haggerty and his "men" marched to the drill grounds. There they remained until Mr. O'Sullivan and the other guests arrived the latter coming to the grounds in machines. When the guests conveying the visitors were sighted there was a great cheer, and when Mr. O'Sullivan alighted another round of applause was given.

When the prohibition had subsided and after the guests were escorted to the reviewing the cadets went through their work. They first marched in dress parade, attired in their blue coats and white duck trousers, by the visitors and the commanders were accorded a great round by the large crowd assembled around the grounds.

The regiment then marched for inspection after which they went

CLUB ETIQUETTE VIOLATED

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 29.—Falling in their efforts to sign Willie Nichols and One Pound Hogan for a match in September, promoter Coffroth and Billy Nolan, Nichols' manager, staged an impromptu bout of their own at the Olympic club here. Nolan disclosed today a discolored cheek as evidence of what he termed Coffroth's assault. According to Nolan he was called to the club by Coffroth and found the promoter in a room with several friends. Coffroth accused him of "running out" in withdrawing Nichols from the Hogan match. When Nolan expressed resentment, Coffroth, he alleges, violated club etiquette by biting him on the cheek. The men were separated after a lively set-to.

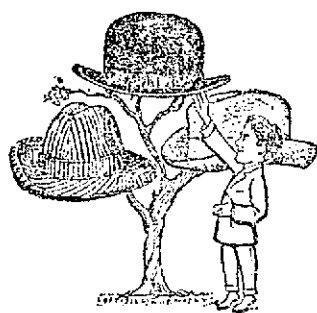

Nolan was explicit in pointing out that the remarks could not have been made by a man and that they bore "all the earmarks of a bite."

Infected Looking soiled at once

Child cried continually, mother almost worn out; Resinol cured. (CINCINNATI, O., June 2, 1912.)—My little girl, three years old, had an eruption on her face from which she suffered about three weeks. The skin was covered with red pimples and she cried continually. The itching was terrible, becoming worse at night, when I would have to be awake most of the night, rubbing her face and head with my hands. I had heard of Resinol, and I bought a box of it. I used it all night, and the next morning the pimples were gone. I used it for a few more days, and the skin was clear. I am now able to sleep at night. I am now able to sleep at night. # Doctor Is Strong For Var-ne-sis

SPENT MUCH MONEY—TRIED OWN MEDICINE—BUT VAR-NE-SIS CURED HIM

A. J. DEWEY

Here is another strong statement from a well known citizen of Lowell about the new remedy Var-ne-sis that produced so many astonishing cures of stomach trouble and rheumatism in this vicinity the last two or three months. Dr. A. J. Dewey, of 11 Liberty street, has this to say about Var-ne-sis:

"I suffered for a long time from rheumatic fever, the bottom of my feet so painful that I could hardly walk, my legs were affected, then my arms so that I could not lift them to my head. This state of affairs continued until I was helpless and had to be carried around; couldn't even get out of the house without assistance. I tried some of my own medicine, as well as spending hundreds of dollars, without relief, so naturally I had little faith in Var-ne-sis when I started. After a few weeks my rheumatism disappeared. I was able to get up and was as well as ever. I certainly think this a great remedy and gladly recommend it."

The reason that Var-ne-sis has been so successful, is that they do not use the old-fashioned drugs so often given for stomach trouble or rheumatism. This remedy acts the stomach and liver in good condition and the poisons so disappear from the system. It is actually a cure for anyone to suffer from stomach trouble or rheumatism any longer—so to your druggists and get it today. If he tries to sell you something else or fails to get it for you, write to W. A. Varney, 25 Hamilton avenue, Lynn, Mass., and he will save you the dealer's name.

The Lowell agent is Dewey the druggist, and you can always find a supply there—ask for the treatment and do it today—now.

WATER FRONT NEWS

Lots of Fish Brought in Yesterday

BOSTON, Aug. 29.—Ten vessels with groundfish, six with thicker mackerel and one swordfisherman discharged their catches at T wharf yesterday. The vessels in with mackerel were the Pinta, with 27,000 pounds; the Clontonia, with 12,000 pounds; the Sillette, with 30,000 pounds; the Saladin, with 50,000 pounds; the Harmony, with 25 barrels; and the Little Annie, with 10 barrels. The fish were of a better quality than most of the catches brought in within the last few weeks. They weighed about a pound each and were caught on Nantucket shoals.

The schooner Topsail Girl landed 25 swordfish, and the schooner Aspinot swordfish, which were taken while on a groundfishing trip. The schooner Saladin also had 10 barrels of salt mackerel.

Dealers' prices yesterday: Haddock, 12 cents a pound; steak cod, 6 cents; mackerel cod, 2 1/2 cents; pollock, 3 cents; large hake, 3 cents; small hake, 2 cents; fish, 2 1/2 cents.

Crab: Blueback, 500 pounds; Herring, 500 pounds; Salmon, 500 pounds; Trout, 500 pounds; Eel, 500 pounds; Mackerel, 500 pounds.

Six big passenger liners are now on their way to Boston from European ports, and next week should be a busy one at the various steamship terminals. The White Star liner Olympic left Liverpool yesterday afternoon for Boston. She took on passengers at Queenstown and proceeded, having in all 299 cabin and 575 steerage passengers. The Olympic of the White Star line left Naples Wednesday afternoon for this port with 1250 steerage passengers.

Another dispatch from Liverpool stated that the Leyland liner Canadian sailed from there yesterday afternoon with ten cabin passengers for Boston. The Alban liner Numbina from Glasgow with some 140 passengers and the Leyland liner Devonian with several steerage passengers are due here Sunday or Monday, and the Red Star liner Mantion from Antwerp is due Monday.

The bark Numbina, owned by Charles Brewer of this city, has been seized by Capt. John Barnson of San Francisco. The bark is now at Honolulu and the terms are not made public. The Numbina recently was damaged during a severe storm.

A wireless message was received at the branch hydrographic office yesterday from Capt. J. J. Johnson of the frigate Admiral Schlegel giving the location of a dangerous sunken wreck, which is believed to be that of the fishing schooner Shenandoah, which sank several days after being in collision with another schooner. Capt. Johnson reported sighting the two halves of a schooner standing upright a few feet out of water, with fishing trawls floating near by.

Five coal schooners arrived in the harbor and anchored on the flats yesterday morning. They were the Ruth, from Norfolk; the Margaret, from Norfolk; the Dorothy, from Norfolk; the Philadelphia, from Philadelphia; and the Gardiner, from Gardiner.

and the Henry S. Little from Philadelphia.

The steamer Edison Light, built for the New England coal trade, was successfully launched yesterday at Ashland, Ohio. She will start for the coast in about three weeks. The new steamer is one of the fleet of the Hawley company of this city and is a sister ship to the steamer George Hawley, being constructed for the same company. It is said that the Edison Light and George Hawley have been chartered for 10 years.

Four foreign freighters arrived yesterday morning. The British steamers Belvedere from Jamaica and Bonaventure from San Domingo, brought bananas for the United Fruit Company. The British steamer Westland from Calcutta for Boston and New York, and the arrival at Suez of the steamer Tarentula from the Far East for Boston.

SITUATION IS SERIOUS

HAVANA, Aug. 30.—The continued violent and scurrilous attacks appearing in the anti-American section of the Cuban press against Hugh S. Gibson, the American charge d'affaires, on account of his attitude in compelling the government to pay the claim of Hugh Kelly for a final settlement of the Cienfuegos water works contract, is causing grave apprehension.

The assault on the American diplomat, made by the journalist Maza, also is producing strong popular sentiment against the United States.

The newspapers represent that Mr. Gibson was insulted by the Cuban republic by his refusal to accept the government check for $557,000 in payment of the Kelly claim.

At the legation, however, it is pointed out that the American representative made it clear to the members of the Cuban cabinet that no doubt existed as to the validity of the check, but that cash was necessary for the purpose of avoiding complications through a possible stoppage of the payment by persons disputing the validity of the Kelly claim.

IMMIGRANTS ARRIVING THREE MEN WERE KILLED

125 Reached Here Yesterday--Depot News

One hundred and twenty-five immigrants arrived in this city yesterday, but very few remained here. They came in on the Fall river train which connects with the boats from New York, where they arrived from their country. The majority of the party were Greeks, some former residents of this country, who went over to bring their friends back. Many spoke good English, and were attired in American clothing. The greater number, however, wore the clothes of their fatherland, and carried bags and bundles of every description.

The visitors were met at the station by many local friends, who remained there until the former departed for their destinations. One hundred members of the party took the train for Nashua and Manchester, N. H., while the others went to Lawrence.

The New York train, which is due to arrive at the local depot at 11.45, did not reach here until 12.26 today, the lateness being due to the heavy travel. There were 16 cars on the train, including four passenger cars, 11 parlor coaches and one 60-foot baggage car, the latter being packed with trunks and bags. Every car was well filled upon reaching Lowell, and many Lowellites also hurried aboard.

Frank Goss, the popular baggage-master at the Boston & Maine station, left today for Northfield, N. B., Grand Manan, where he will spend the next two weeks, visiting friends there. Mr. Goss, during the past few months, has been on the jump as the baggage arriving here has been exceptionally heavy, and his rest from activities comes at a very opportune time.

The carpet mill closed tonight, and will remain so until Tuesday morning.

LOCAL. Miss Minnie O'Connell, the popular president of the Working Girls' club of the Beatt mills, and Miss Fannie Fitzgerald are spending an enjoyable vacation at Beatt camp, Willow Dale.

And One Fatally Injured in Railroad Accident

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 30.—Three men were killed, one fatally injured and a number slightly hurt, when the Pennsylvania railroad train which left here this morning for Cleveland ran into a wrecking train engaged in cleaning a freight wreck that had occurred a short time before near Conway, west of this city. The dead are: A. L. Coughenour, engineer of the passenger train, and two unidentified laborers. Fireman Vaughan of the passenger train was fatally crushed.

The wreck train was clearing the freight wreck and the engine section of a steam derrick was cut over the passenger track. Railroad officials say a flagman gave the proper warning, but it was disregarded.

IN POLICE COURT

SHORT SESSION IN JUDGE ENRIGHT'S COURT TODAY

This morning's session of the police court was one of the shortest that has been held since Judge Enright occupied the bench. There were but two cases to be heard.

One of the cases was continued after argument by counsel for defendants and the other was that of John J. James and James Manns, who were charged with riding a bicycle on the sidewalk.

Patrolman Charles A. Hamilton testified that the defendants were in the habit of riding on the sidewalk in Varnum avenue and despite the fact that he had warned them on several occasions to assist them continued to use the sidewalk instead of the main thoroughfare. He said that when he had cautioned them they had laughed at him and rode away. Last night he succeeded in capturing the pair and one of the men did not have a bell on his machine, which is also a violation of the law.

The court, after considering the evidence in the case, found both men guilty and ordered each to pay a fine of $5.

ACUTE INDIGESTION FATAL

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—Ezra Crawford Bartlett, a retired mine owner, suffered an attack of acute indigestion while playing basketball in the gymnasium of the New York Athletic club on Central Park south, yesterday afternoon and died a few minutes later. He had suffered from indigestion and his physician prescribed a diet and advised him to take exercise.

The superintendent of the club notified the coroner's office and the body was taken to an undertaking establishment after Coroner Holtzhauser had satisfied himself of the cause of death.

Mr. Bartlett was 45 years old and was born in Louisville, Ky. When he was about 30 years old he went to Arizona, where he is said to have made a comfortable fortune in gold and silver mining. Some six or eight years ago he retired from the mining business and came to New York, where he had interested himself in real estate investments. During the years he was in New York he lived in the Imperial Arms apartment house, at 610 Riverside Drive.

Mr. Bartlett is survived by his father, who is a grain broker in Kansas City, and by a brother and two sisters.

SATISFACTORY EXHIBIT

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—Bank exchanges continue in notable large volume and returns this week from all leading cities in the United States again make a remarkably satisfactory exhibit, the total as compiled by Dun's Review, aggregating $2,390,560,948, an increase of 19.2 per cent, as compared with the same week last year and of 12.3 per cent, compared with the corresponding week in 1910. New York city showed a gain over last year of 12 per cent, and over two years ago of 11.8 per cent, while the returns from outside cities, as a whole, are hardly as favorable as those of the leading center, the total showing gains of 6.7 per cent, and 7.9 per cent, respectively over the ten previous years, the increases at numerous points reflect generally active conditions.

SOME STRIKE ON IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—The strike of the sand excavation teamsters, which started Wednesday on the new Lexington avenue subway, spread yesterday to all parts of the city, halting up work on all the new subways, including the Fourth Avenue tunnel in Brooklyn.

Work was also stopped on 45 per cent of the contracts in Manhattan where excavations for new buildings or foundation work is going on. Hundreds of left buildings and other large structures, the foundation work of which it was intended to finish before winter, will be delayed.

About 1200 sand and excavation teamsters and 800 helpers were out up to last night. The cellar workers also quit and in a number of buildings the bricklayers could not work on account of lack of mortar.

KOREAN CONSPIRACY

ALL OF THE 123 ACCUSED PLEADED NOT GUILTY

SEOUL, Korea, Aug. 30.—All of the 123 accused in the Korean conspiracy trial pleaded not guilty today when the hearing was resumed. Ten of the prisoners testified that the former confessions of plotting against the life of Governor General Count Terauchi had been secured by mistreatment and torture. An eloquent plea in the prisoners' defense was made by Dr. Uesawa, one of the leading members of the Tokyo bar, and also a Japanese member of parliament.

Even Christians, he admitted, committed crimes, but his clients had also been educated in the arts and sciences and were hardly likely to commit crime. The Roman judges, he said, were so impressed with the purity of Christ's motives that they declared him guiltless.

Miss Mary E. Corley of Third street has returned from her vacation spent at Hampton and Salisbury beaches and Amesbury, Mass.

Miss Helen Kane of 16 Franklin street, and the Misses Annie Sullivan, Mary Sullivan, Nellie Sullivan and Margaret Sullivan of 20 North Franklin street, will spend the next two weeks at Hilltop cottage, Westford.

Velour, Velvet and Felt Hats

Ladies, have you felt that uncomfortable yet healthy chill in the air these mornings and evenings? You know what it means. That hat of straw or linen which you thought would do for several weeks more, will soon have to be discarded and one of a heavier and warmer material given its place. We had foresight enough to see that it would soon be time for Fall Hats, and this week, in New York, when we were given the chance to make an early Fall purchase of classy stylish hats, the kind which will be in vogue the coming season, we closed in with one of the largest manufacturers for this shipment. Having received them at an extremely low figure we will have the pleasure of selling them at prices which, we can say without hesitation, will be lower than any that will be quoted this Fall. The lot is a large one, of varied designs and colors. See the display in our windows.

MAY BE DEPORTED

Erring Couple Arraigned
in Police Court

Kathina Melcho, demure and dejected, occupied a seat on the bench in front of the cage in police station this morning, while Argeris Georgiou, her paramour, was seated behind her, being separated only by the wire cage in which he was enclosed. Both were charged with adultery. Their appearance in police court was nothing more or less than the second chapter in the sequence of events since their arrival in Lowell yesterday morning when they created a sensation at the Middlesex street station and subsequently went through the third degree at the office of the clerk of the police court and in the office of the superintendent of police.

As exclusively stated in yesterday's issue of the Sun, Nestor Corambelis and Kathina Melcho were married in Greece four years ago and one child was born to them. The child died shortly after the former left the old country three years ago to come to the United States, where he intended to make a home for his wife. When he left, it is alleged that Georgiou became infatuated with Corambelis' wife, and several weeks ago Georgiou deserted his wife and child and with the Melcho woman came to this country, and arrived in this city yesterday morning. When the couple reached this city they were met by Corambelis, who claimed the woman as his wife, and as a result of the controversy at the station the trio were sent to the police station, but inasmuch as there was no infraction of the law in this city the local officials were unable to hold any of the parties.

The matter was reported to the immigration officials, however, as it was taken for granted that neither Georgiou nor the woman could have landed in this country if one or the other, or both, had not given false answers to the immigration officers when they landed in New York.

Yesterday afternoon the immigration officers in Boston were notified of the incident and last night Inspector Lennon came to this city and working in conjunction with the police, Georgiou and the Melcho woman were arrested in a house in Branch street near the corner of School street by Patrolmen Tsafaras and John Mahan and sent to the police station, where they were charged with adultery.

It is alleged that after leaving the police station Georgiou's brother engaged a room in the Branch street house and intended that it was to be used by him, but instead he turned the key over to Georgiou, and the latter and the woman went to that place last night and upon entering the room placed the couple under arrest.

Lawyer Daniel J. Donahue appeared for the defendants in police court this morning at the request of Georgiou's brother, entered a plea of not guilty and asked for a continuance until tomorrow morning. He informed the court that an officer from the immigration office in Boston had been in this city yesterday and went back to the Hub for the purpose of securing papers for the deportation of the couple.

YOUNG JOY RIDERS

PURLOIN BICYCLES AND LEAVE
THEM ANY OLD PLACE

Bicycle thieves have been operating in this city for the past several weeks and although the police have been very active in trying to locate the malefactors they have been unsuccessful, inasmuch as the persons who take the machines are principally boys who are in the habit of going "joy riding" on bicycles and leaving them wherever they find it convenient to make a "get-away" in case they see a person in a blue uniform with brass buttons attached.

At the present time there are several bicycles at the police station, some of which have been stolen, while others have been picked up by patrolmen and sent to the station, they have been found in the street with no apparent owner.

Although it is claimed that the riding of the bicycle is on the wane, there are many enthusiasts who still use the wheels and enjoy riding as thousands of others did years ago, but at the present time they are used more for commercial and business purposes than heretofore.

Many people who have occasion to stop at various places on the different streets in the city leave their bicycles with one of the pedals resting on the curb. In a number of instances when they return they find that the machine is missing. The matter is then reported to the police and the officers of the department are notified of the larceny.

With the description of the machine the officers as a general rule are able to locate the bicycle either in one of the pawn shops or abandoned in the street and in each instance the machines are sent to the police station.

Several years ago it was a common practice for bicycles to be stolen and sold in other cities or towns, but now the principal offenders are boys who, upon seeing a bicycle resting near the curb, mount the machine and ride for several miles and then abandon it.

As a general rule the officers on the beat, where the bicycles are found, send the machines to the police station, where they are later identified by their owners.

WOMAN ROUTED BURGLAR

Fired Revolver at Him
Entering Window

BROCKTON, Aug. 29.—A masked burglar, who escaped in an automobile was near death last night when a bullet from a 38-calibre revolver, in the hands of Mrs. May Ralsen of 541 West street, whizzed by his head as he was about to enter a bedroom window. After the shot the man ran to an auto which was waiting for him and rode away, a companion at the wheel.

Mrs. Ralsen was sitting on the sofa of the bed of her little boy, when she had just undressed, and there was no light in the room. She first heard some one at work on the screen outside the window, and then saw a hand reach up to the top. She picked up her revolver, which was handy, and when the masked face of a man, attired in a long and high auto coat, appeared in the window, Mrs. Ralsen fired away. The man dropped the ground, rolled over and ran to the auto, which was 20 yards away on Forest avenue. There were no lights on the machine.

Mrs. Ralsen then telephoned to the police station and Inspector Sweeney and Patrolmen Stanner and Ryan went to the house, where they found a bullet hole in the exact centre of the screen.

showing that Mrs. Ralsen took good aim.

Mrs. Ralsen's husband, Oscar S. Ralsen, was not at home. He is an ice dealer and frequently has a large sum of money on his person. The house is in the outskirts of the city, with no other houses near.

MADE SEVEN SPEECHES

Gov. Wilson Spent Very
Strenuous Day

SEA GIRT, N. J., Aug. 29.—The

waves and churning lines were comforting today to Governor Wilson that he had spent the most strenuous day of his life in his trip through Pennsylvania. The governor estimated that he had spoken in his impromptu tour of 210 miles through Pennsylvania to nearly 40,000 people and that he had shaken hands in one day with about 500 individuals.

The most interesting revelation in Governor Wilson was the fact that he found himself making seven speeches instead of the one he had planned, that he was just as busy as the back platform of his train as presidential candidates always have been and that he was almost converted to the old fashioned idea of campaigning, which at first he thought of as a thing of the past.

The governor plainly was pleased by the thousands who greeted him along the journey, more so because his reception along the line were not planned, his special car being attached to a regular train.

The governor liked his Pennsylvania experience so well that he may make more speeches there. He goes to Scranton Sept. 19, but indications are that he will concentrate his campaign in the next month on New York and Pennsylvania and make speeches in the latter state may be looked for.

BIG FORCE SENT OUT

SAN JUAN DEL SUR, Nicaragua, Aug. 29.—A force of 500 American bluecoats and marines left Corinto today to establish railroad and telegraphic communication with Managua. All the stations along the railroad will be surrounded by armed troops, who will protect the property and railroad, and prevent interference with the running of trains.

The marines and bluecoats were composed of detachments which have been landed from the carriers Callista and Denver and the gunboat Annapolis.

They are under the command of Commander Warren A. Tatham of the gunboat Annapolis.

WAGE CONTRACT REJECTED

CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—Rejection of the three-year wage contract knitting a cent an hour increase in pay was generally regarded as the probable outcome of bargaining which Chicago street car men indulged in this morning. The count of the vote was not reported, to be announced until tomorrow, in case the contract is rejected the union will be arbitrated.

THE LOCAL CORPS

OF SALVATION ARMY OBSERVES
FUNERAL OF GEN. BOOTH

The local corps of the Salvation Army observed the funeral of General William Booth yesterday by a demonstration of all work. Sunday afternoon memorial services will be held at the barracks in Jackson street. A special program has been arranged by the National headquarters in New York for all the corps in the United States. Some of the songs composed by General Booth will be sung at this service. The service will be in charge of Knicker and Mrs. Brookman, officers in charge of the local work. A number of local ministers and Christian workers are expected to take part in the service. The Army extends a hearty invitation to the friends of Booth and the Army.

PLOWING AT NIGHT

DALLAS, Tex., Aug. 29. Farmers in northern Texas are plowing by moonlight to escape the attacks of a fly that is causing death of live stock in that section of the state. Horses and cattle are being driven blind by the pest, and cows refuse to eat.

Badmen are heavy sufferers, supplies of milk and butter being greatly reduced. The people also are suffering attacks of fear. Horses are being covered with blankets. While the situation is reported improved in some localities, in others it continues serious with no indication of an early relief.

At Last the Men of America Are Seeking Women's Help in Politics

The Most Prominent Woman in American Politics is Miss Jane Addams

American women, in one important particular at least, have long lagged behind their English cousins. (It is the treason, ladies must make the most of it. Let them suspend sentence, at any rate, until the scribe has developed his point.) Whereas for a generation or so, long before the word "suffragette" became a part of the language, the wives, sisters and sweethearts of British statesmen and near statesmen have not only been taking an intelligent interest in the political fortunes of their men folk, but have actually afforded their practical aid in elections. In this country the woman who understood politics, even enough to sustain a train of talk conversation over the breakfast table, has been one of the rarest things in captivity.

Has been. Please notice the tense. For now we have a mass of them. It is not with the nation in general, but with the women of the nation, that this article is concerned, although that admission has had a powerful influence upon the interest in politics which the women of the United States are now displaying. The most significant feature of women's participation in the campaign of 1912 is the facility with which they are accepted by all parties as co-workers with men in the common cause of democratic government and with which individuals form their political affiliations on the basis of personal preferences rather than because the party of their choice has "done something" for woman suffrage.

Woman Leaders of Progressives

The most prominent woman in American politics today is Miss Jane Addams, head worker of Hull House, Chicago, in the comparison with England in the opening paragraph gave place to any patriotic American woman, but it is said now, by way of preparation that, though the American woman's interest in politics is of later date than that of Englishwomen, there is no lack of English feminist leaders who command the respect and admiration of all alike.

inflection which are accorded by her countrymen and countrywomen to the brilliant sociologist who seconded the nomination of Theodore Roosevelt at Chicago.

Miss Addams, who was a delegate-at-large to the progressive convention, was one of 20 women who had voted there, while five sat as alternates. Nine states—New York, Massachusetts, Illinois, Colorado, Georgia, Utah, Tennessee, California and Michigan—were represented by women. One of them, Mrs. Charles D. Blaney, had been a Roosevelt delegate from California at the republican convention. "The first citizen of Illinois" is what the Addams enthusiasts—and Chicago, is! Organizer of Women's Trade Union. Another student of social conditions who is enlisted in the progressive army for the Battle of Armageddon is Miss Mary Dreier of Brooklyn, who was a delegate at large from New York. She is a woman of means who has devoted herself to the improvement of women's working conditions and to this end has organized the National Women's Trade Union league, of which she is president.

Mrs. Robert H. Elder, wife of a prominent New York lawyer, was elected at taking part in the convention. She says it is glorious to be in politics.

But the progressive women are not the only active politicians of their sex. The socialists have long received women into their councils on an equal basis with men, and this summer a woman, Miss Anna A. Moley, a lecturer and writer, was nominated for governor by the socialists of Washington, who profess their belief in her election.

Mrs. Rose Pastor Stokes, whose husband is a candidate on the socialist ticket for mayor of Stamford, Conn., is hardly more active in politics now, though she is herself running for a school commission than she has been for years in agitating for the benefit of New York wage earners.

That the republicans are following the example of the democrats and the progressives in making a strong bid for women's votes and women's influence in the present campaign is indicated by the activities of the National Women's Republican association and the affiliated New York State Woman's Republican association. A few weeks ago Miss Helen Varick Boswell, president of the former, and Mrs. John Francis Yawger, president of the latter, both of whom had been attending the convention of the General Federation of Women's clubs in San Francisco, met in Seattle and mapped out a plan of campaign for the country.

MOOSE CARNIVAL

TOO MANY AUTOS

BOSTON, Aug. 30.—The finance commission in a communication to Mayor Fitzgerald yesterday requested that he take no further steps toward selecting a site for a municipal garage until the commission had reported on an investigation it is now conducting in relation to the number of automobiles owned by the city and the cost and maintenance of the same. The commission believes the number of machines can be reduced without decreasing the efficiency of the department.

Take me up to the Bunting.

Small accounts solicited and appreciated at the old Lowell National bank.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

Lowell Opera House
Bernhardt in "Queen Elizabeth"—One of the most interesting dramatic moments in "Queen Elizabeth," the spectacular photo-drama in which Miss Susan Bernhardt and an all star cast of players are to be seen at the opera house for three days commencing Saturday evening August 31st, is in the third act of the play, after the execution of the Earl of Essex. The queen at last realizing that the earl had returned her ring as a reminder of the queen's promise to come to his aid whenever needed, should be taken to the number of automobiles owned by the city and the cost and maintenance of the same. The commission believes the number of machines can be reduced without decreasing the efficiency of the department.

Saturday evening, and Sunday and Monday afternoon and evening. Seats for all performances are now on sale. "Trail of the Lonesome Pine"—Through Eugene O'Neill's dramatization of "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine" sweeps the joy, the zest, the enthusiasm of youth in action, which is the primary character of the play, fully developed by the deft skill of the clever dramatist in transferring Mr. Fox's book-girl to the stage.

Messrs. Knickerbocker's scenic convention of the lonesome pine, the conquest of the Gap form a moving background, full of color and naturalness, enhancing the spiritual presentation of the play. The play, which John Fox, Jr. has so cleverly conceived in book form with deep understanding and sympathy, their production in Philadelphia, Philadelphia, and seven weeks in London, is an enchanting capacity houses at every performance. A similar reception greeted the big success in Chicago and New York. The strong New York company of players presents "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine" at the Opera House, Sept. 2 and 3.

Alice Lloyd—"The Werba and Luescher production of "Little Miss Fix-it" in which Alice Lloyd is soon to come to this city containing the spirited presentation of "The Turkey Trot" which has been danced from Newport around the country since it was first seen across the Atlantic as well as the new "Onion 568"—"Onion 568" the famous farce that has kept New York and Chicago keyed up to the attitude toward the laughing line for a year, is one of the smartest plays that has been produced in America in twenty years, and is to occur here soon, is awaited with pleasurable anticipation.

Merrimack Square Theatre
Only a few more opportunities remain for those who have not witnessed this week's bill at the Merrimack square theatre. It includes five first night vaudeville acts together with four reels of the latest and best productions from the photo-play world. Boutin, Tillip & Co. in their grand musical offering is one of the most surprisingly entertaining numbers that ever played the theatre. "The Shoplifters" in which Marie Florentine & Co. disappear, while the three Lowell girls, the Carleton sisters, with their bright songs, clever dancing and beautiful costumes present one of the newest and highly pleasing turns imaginable. Harrington & Lens are duplicating their success of last week with a brace of new productions. Billy with the jolly far exceeds in the comedy line with some new songs and stories. The photo-plays include for the rest of the week a picture of the world wide events of no little import, also some very excellent comedy and dramatic outputs. Seats for the Labor day performances are on sale at the box office. Phone 2654.

The Playhouse
Kendall Weston, who has assumed direction of The Playhouse for the coming season, is to supervise all departments of the theatre. He will judge all the plays, direct the rehearsals, as well as see to the business end of the theatre. He will not act regularly, but will be seen occasionally in a few plays, and to judge dancing, which he has seen his latest success. The Drama Players is an organization of artists whose combined talents will be given weekly, including Thursday and Saturday afternoons, and the prices of admission will range from 10 cents up to 75 cents for all performances excepting Thursday, afternoons when the prices will be from 10 cents up to 50.

WEAR RUBBERS
This winter

The Casino
The Casino will be open Monday afternoon. "Onion 568" and "The Werba and Luescher production of "Little Miss Fix-it" will be given. The Casino will continue to hold its patronage, with sessions Thursday and Saturday afternoons, and every night.

B. P. Keith Theatre
The splendid bill booked for the Keith theatre will meet with very general approval from patrons of the higher forms of vaudeville. The mixture of smart comedy with first class singing and dancing cannot fail to compel the heartiest of approval. Bonita and Lew Hearn in "Twenty Minutes from Musical Comedy" will run through the gamut of "The Red Widow," "The Pink Lady" and "Our Miss Gibbs," three of the most fascinating musical concoctions given in years. Bonita is a handsome woman and her dancing of the act is said to be something to marvel at. Mr. Hearn is a specially funny man. William Hutchinson & Co. in a new comedy, and Tom Kye & Co. in "A Doctor's Widow" will prove laugh provokers of the first water. Wilbur Swenson, a little colored gentleman, is a wonderful impersonator, who has made a mint out of all the circuits. Jeannette Childs, formerly ingenue in "The De Law's Revue," the "Gaiety of Teddy" two men and a dog and all given to acrobatics. Ward & Culhane, dancers and singers, and Les Gaudin, dancing jugglers, complete this marvellous bill. Don't fail to secure your tickets for the Labor day performances. They are going rapidly.

Academy of Music
Another packed house at this grand old historic play house. Everybody went home pleased. La Malinquin and Tom in their comedy acrobatic act, amazed and pleased all, with their jumbos, twisting and turning, and Tom the clown will treat the week rest. He has broken six chairs, two staidladders and one table to date. Collins & Klifton, experts on the banjo, were encircled several times. Miss Klifton has won several medals. Mr. Collins in rag-time can't be beat. Tom Lavigne is a Lowell boy and his parodies and humorous imitations are typical. The pictures are due. The Vitagraph feature, "The Barrier that was Burned" tells the story of love and hardships in cold Alaska, a very realistic picture, showing a great northern snow storm. The rest of the picture program is of the highest order. Next Sunday, a grand concert, afternoon and evening. Some prices, 50, 100 and 150. Come early.

Lakeside Dance Hall
"Only a few more left," is what you hear at the summer dance halls and those who enjoy the art should not let any of these pleasant evenings pass by without going to the lakeside dancing is enjoyed under perfect conditions. The floor is the best in the vicinity, the music on a par with any in the state, and the decorations and other effects exquisite. The vocal selections by Ethel Knevelton complete the program for a pleasant evening.

THE MERRIMACK RIVER PROBLEM

The boards of trade representing the cities and towns of the Merrimack Valley should make in presenting arguments to Engineer Abbott, who is investigating the matter of making the Merrimack river navigable. What he wants is a convincing reason that the enterprise would be a paying investment.

So many surveys have already been made that it would seem superfluous to undertake another unless the people of the Merrimack Valley showed some enthusiasm in favor of the project. The advantages that would be derived from having the river navigable from Lowell to the sea are innumerable. Lowell and the other mill cities located upon the banks of the river receive a rich bounty from Nature in the water power that flows through the canals daily. Were the river navigable this advantage would be greatly increased, because then not only would the river be a source of motive power, but it might be used as a water way for the transportation of coal and supplies of every kind. The mills would be thus put in communication with the source of their raw material, and by the same route they could ship their supplies to Boston, New York or South America.

This is perhaps looking a little too far ahead, but rivers are nearly so deep as to wish, so the Merrimack have been made navigable at the expense of the federal government. The government is apparently ready to undertake the work of deepening and widening the Merrimack provided the people only show that they want the improvement, and that it will be utilized by the merchants and manufacturing companies of the cities along the river.

There should not be much difficulty in demonstrating this to the satisfaction of the engineers. It seems that many of the manufacturing concerns assume a neutral attitude entirely inconsistent with the public spirit that should be shown by men who own the factories and workshops throughout the city.

TO REDUCE COST OF LIVING

It is estimated that the sum of $750,000,000 would have been saved to this country had President Taft signed the measures passed by the democratic house during the session of congress just closed.

Congressman Underwood, who is one of the most skillful experts on the tariff, figures out the amount that would be saved under the different bills. The farmers' free list bill, Mr. Underwood believes, would have saved the country $300,000,000 while the revision under Schedule "K" would have saved about $88,000,000. The reduction in the metal schedule would have reduced the steel extortions by $80,000,000, while the chemical schedule revision would have saved $17,000,000 and the free sugar bill would have effected a saving of $115,000,000.

In spite of this, however, President Taft tries to justify his veto of the various measures, and claims that the tariff is not responsible for the high cost of living. The republican policy is to keep up the tariff regardless of the cost of living, while the democratic policy would revise it so as to restore reasonable competition and cut off the outrageous extortion practised by the trusts and monopolies that have the power to levy tribute upon the people.

LIBERAL MINISTRY NOT TOTTERING

Some people think the Liberal party of England will soon go down in defeat on some of the measures it has in hand; but of this there is very little sign beyond a couple of slight reverses in by elections due to a variety of causes. It is true that the new insurance law pushed through by Chancellor George has injured the party; but the feeling of opposition to the measure is already subsiding. The home rule bill, the disestablishment of the Welsh church and the municipal suffrage bill are still to be carried through, and although the Unionists oppose the government policy at every step none of the leaders seem to have any dread of a dissolution. The Irish leader, Mr. Redmond, is quite sanguine that the parliament will have the vote for two years more so that home rule will then be an accomplished fact.

TWO UNKNOWN VICTIMS

Two dead men await identification at local undertakers' shops. They were killed, it is believed, while walking on the railroad tracks near the round house at the northern station. The need of a bridge at a central location is one of the first. The undertakers hold the bodies for identification as a matter of humanity and without any guarantee of being paid for their trouble. This is not as it should be. We are glad to hear that the Boston and Maine officials are to enforce the law against walking on the tracks. The unrestricted use of the tracks by pedestrians is responsible for most of the accidents.

A resolution of last year's session at Bethlehem, N. H., is a notable event. Despite the fact that the annual convention, the ravages of the epidemic have not been overlooked. The chorus of cheering and the display of banners and flags were scenes of the convention. Some of the delegates at this session feel was able to report having the 4th day have been one of the best they had ever had and attributed to the cooperation of some months or not so long.

The new regulations of the police, many provided were in every way considered and approved, the benefit derived by the children from organized games of football were considered, restricted and amused. The new regulations were a great advantage to them, while they were being put into effect, to give the children a better chance.

The Board of Health, in its report, has found as a labor leader, is that the country. The report of the health authorities, and we do not know how to get the people to see that it is now in the labor leader's hands, and we are not sure that it is now in the labor leader's hands.

New England, as a whole, is in a state of depression. The depression is not only in the labor market, but in the general economy. The depression is not only in the labor market, but in the general economy.

Look D. Brown and Governor Wilson are in full accord upon the issue of the corporation. Mr. Brown is a La Follette man, but he finds proper place in the democratic ranks. He is strongly opposed to the corporation, and is in full accord upon the issue of the corporation.

The Metropolitan police commission in charge of the Revere Beach Boulevard has to give the children of the beach the opportunity to observe the twenty-mile speed limit of a boulevard generally crowded with people and used for particular children.

The indictments found in the alleged dynamite conspiracy in Lawrence have caused a feeling of consternation. It is hardly conceivable that any prominent mill man would have a hand in such a dastardly plot.

Governor Foss does not believe in any color line in his. He has just nominated a colored lawyer for clerk of a juvenile court in Boston.

Seen and Heard

At one time, when J. Pierpont Morgan was uneasy about his health, his physician ordered him to quit smoking. Morgan, who was a heavy smoker, was surprised to see the doctor putting away at a voluminous smoking pipe in his mouth and blowing out thick clouds of smoke.

"Why," exclaimed the secretary, "I thought I thought the doctor said: 'The not using tobacco,'" said Morgan, "This is really a cigar that Tom Ryan gave me."

The goose had been carried and everybody had tasted it. It was excellent. The negro minister, who was the guest of honor, could not restrain his enthusiasm.

"That's an old goose as I ever saw," Broder Williams, he said to his host. "What did you get such a fine goose?" "Well, now, parson," replied the carrier of the goose, exhibiting great dignity and reticence, "when you preach a good sermon I make a few axes out of you put it. I hope you will show me due consideration."

A correspondent who has traveled in Scotland contributes the following amusing account of an attempt to buy a rare book:

In his "Autograph of the Breakfast Table" Oliver Wendell Holmes mentions a curious book called "Thinks to itself" as having been written and published in England by a person of quality about the beginning of the last century. Some time ago, among a number of second-hand books exposed for sale outside a shop in Glasgow, I noticed one in elegant but binding. It was "Thinks to itself" in two thick volumes.

The first volume took my fancy. I was born of very worthy, honest and respectable parents—at least, I think so! I went into the shop with the volumes and asked the old man of the interior: "What is the value of these?" He turned them over carefully and said: "These are of no use to me; they're just so much waste paper. This struck me as an original way."

of selling books, and I gravely requested: "Very well; how much for them, then?" "Three pence," he said. "For volume?" I asked. "For the two," he replied. Whereupon I put the books into my pocket and handed him the money. He looked at me wonderingly and inquired: "Where did you get them?" "Tinsie, at the door."

"Why," he rasped, "I thought you were selling them!" Many uncomplimentary remarks were passed by visitors to Lowell on the condition of the sidewalks in many parts of the city. The old fashioned brick pavement, although we are pleased to note it has in many places been replaced by the more modern concrete, is nevertheless altogether too strikingly prominent in some localities. It would be difficult to find a pavement more unsightly and full of disfigurement to pedestrians than an old brick sidewalk. Somewhere or later the bricks wear and settle, and the walk, roughened and warped, then becomes inferior to a country road. There are many parts of Lowell in which this defect is prominent and it is certain that a modified of the construction of these would be welcomed and greatly appreciated by those who are obliged to traverse them daily.

Richard Croker, dwelling serenely in Ireland, has devoted some of his fortune to proving that the Irish are a mixed race. FRIENDSHIP Have you a friend, one true, strong friend whose heart beats ever with yours? Whose hand on yours holds fast its grip, however fierce life's storm? Whose kindness is as constant as the light of God's own day? Whose thoughts are with you, though himself is half a world away? If such a friend you have, in truth, then you are rich indeed. Although of things men count as wealth you need not seek in store; and richer still in treasure that increases to life's end. If unto you some brother man can prove that perfect friend. —Robert K. MILK AND LOBSTER

EXPENSIVE EATING HOUSES

SELL IMPURE PRODUCT

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—According to a report made yesterday by the New York milk committee to the department of health, the milk sold in some of the big hotels and expensive restaurants in the shopping and downtown business districts is not fit to drink. The only difference between a glass of milk sold at some of these hotels and the milk purchased in a corner grocery in the tenement district is the price. Paul B. Taylor, secretary of the milk committee.

Publication of the list of places where the milk sold was found to contain from 1,000,000 to 30,000,000 bacteria.

There isn't enough high grade milk to go around," said Dr. Bensen, "and the result is that you don't always get high grade milk to drink in a hotel or restaurant."

Dr. Bensen was asked if he approved of the milk committee's idea of forcing hotel and restaurant keepers to mark their milk in a way to show the grade. He said that he would approve it just as it was possible for them to obtain an ample supply of the high grade milk.

Another point where Dr. Bensen and the milk committee differ is concerning the comparative value of laboratory work and the inspection of the source of milk supply. The milk committee believes, and hopes to convert the board of estimate to its belief, that the board of estimate's work does more than $100 spent in supervising the source of supply.

Dr. Bensen says that the bacteriological work is of importance in showing the condition of the milk, so that dirty milk may be traced from retailer to transportation agency and back to the dairy, with a cleaning up process along the way.

Dr. Bensen said that the milk committee's report had been considered by the health department some time ago, but that it had not been thought that any particular action was needed.

The big increase in the number of inspectors for which the health department has asked the board of estimate, would help a lot, Dr. Bensen said, but it must be remembered that the securing of an absolutely pure milk supply couldn't be done in a day.

HUSKY GRAPPLERS

WERE THE DRACUT AND CHELMSFORD BOYS OF LONG AGO

The following paragraph which may be of some interest to the local sportsmen was taken from the History of Middlesex county in the section relating to Dracut:

In 1812 Captain Phineas Whiting and Major Josiah Fletcher erected a wooden factory for the manufacture of cotton in Chelmsford on the present site of the Middlesex company's mills, now in Lowell. This was the first mill built in this vicinity.

After the rising there was a wrestling match, held at the Cotton, of Dracut, held the first day of long time. He was one of the most powerful men that the world ever produced, and a scientific wrestler, and no man of ordinary strength could cope with him for a moment. "After a considerable time" in the language of one who was present, "they got in Bill Tank, a fun of great bulk, his strength and size, and so stout that he would load barrels of cider by putting them over the sides of an ox-wagon. There was great sport in this match. It looked like a contest between two monstrous lions. It was a good while before either could make any impression upon the other; at last they both fell in such a way that it was called a 'draw,' and that ended the game."

The real name of "Bill Tank" as he was called, was William Varnum. There were several of the same name, and to distinguish him from the others he received this name because when he was conversing with people he had a habit of giving them a thrust with his hand, or, as they expressed it, giving them a "tank."

Half a century ago Dracut was somewhat celebrated for its men of physical strength and liveness, some of whom were very expert in wrestling. Dracut was Chelmsford, and other towns in this vicinity. Whether it was because the boys were raised so largely on lamprey eels that were taken so plentiful from the Merrimack I never knew. I have been told that a challenge was sent to Dracut from Methuen many years ago to meet them on the line between the two towns for a wrestling match. It was accepted, and the best men of both towns met on the day appointed. The struggle was entered into heartily on both sides, and the result for a while was doubtful, but Dracut was finally victorious. To the expression of the informant, "Dracut threw Methuen over the line. If that was so, it was probably a friendly triumph which required a mighty effort, for Methuen boasted of powerful men not to be tossed about with impunity."

At "ordinations and four-day meetings" which everybody attended, a little wrestling, when nothing else was going on, was considered not inappropriate. At an ordination in Dracut some forty years ago, one of the old residents challenged a person present to wrestle with him, and told him he would throw him in a minute or pay for the flip, whereupon they took hold, and he sooner was the word "ready" than he was sprawling on the ground, but he sprang up and clinched his opponent again and threw him. It was done inside of a minute so that the challenger was not required to "pay the flip" although he had been thrown in the contest.

ria in each cubic centimetre. Mr. Taylor says, would disturb the digestions of many business men and lawyers who have been on a hot weather diet of crackers and milk.

making the report the milk committee seeks to have Health Commissioner Lederle require all hotels and restaurants to display signs stating the grade of milk served. Mr. Taylor said that the result of this committee's investigation would also be used in an attempt to have the board of estimate provide a better system of investigation.

The basis of the report was an analysis of samples of milk, sold for drinking purposes at 230 hotels, restaurants and lunchrooms in New York and Brooklyn, 23 of the places examined being in the latter borough. These places, Mr. Taylor says, were visited by inspectors on four consecutive days; milk was ordered in the usual way and the investigator took a sample through a sterile pipette and sealed the sample at once in an ice chest by special messenger to the laboratory for analysis, and the committee believes that the test was a fair one.

Analysis of the samples, the report says, showed that the grade of the milk belonged to the grade established by Commissioner Lederle for purposes of cooking and manufacturing purposes. Some of it was very bad. The committee makes a classification of milk on a percentage basis, ranking certified, or Grade A milk, as 90; inspected, or Grade B milk, as 80; and then classifying the other grades according to the bacteria they contain. On this basis most of the places visited sold milk that would rank at about 35 per cent, says Mr. Taylor.

"Before this summer," said Mr. Taylor, "we had been confining our inspection to the tenement districts. We got an idea that we might do more good by bringing the matter of pure milk closer to influential men, so we left the tenement districts for Wall Street and the shopping and business districts. We found that the banker gets the same dirty milk that the tenement house mother gets when she goes to the corner grocery."

Why in one of the best known hotels in this town," continued Mr. Taylor, "the milk sold in the dining room at 25 cents a glass was of the 35 per cent, sort, while in the bar of the same hotel they serve you certified milk for ten cents a glass."

Mr. Taylor went on to say that the committee investigators found many restaurants of the better class buying their milk in bulk and then bottling it to serve their patrons.

"You call for a pint of milk," said Mr. Taylor, "and you get it in a clean looking bottle and feel that you must be getting good milk, but if you could step behind the scenes you would find a kitchen scullion filling the bottles from the big can."

"Such milk comes from sources that are utterly beyond the pale. It comes loose in cans and is obtained from places where no precautions are observed in the handling of the milk. In A and C milk the farmers have to do many things that add to the cost of production. The people who sell grade D milk handle it without regard to cleanliness. It is common but be impure. But of course it is cheaper, and that I suppose is why it is purchased in the places our investigators visited."

Commissioner Lederle of the health department is on his vacation, but Dr. Walter Bensen, acting commissioner, said yesterday that he couldn't see anything to get alarmed at over the milk committee's report. He admitted that low grade milk was sold in all sorts of places, but said that it wouldn't hurt an adult to drink it. He added that it might be noted that the death rate was going down all the time from 1,000,000 to 30,000,000 bacteria.

There isn't enough high grade milk

TROUBLED WITH DANDRUFF 20 YEARS

Dry Skin on Scalp. Would Show Badly on Coat Collar. Cured After Few Treatments with Cuticura Soap and Ointment.

743 Third Ave., New York, N. Y.—

"Having been troubled with dandruff for twenty years and trying numerous lotions, washes, etc., without any effect, I thought I would give Cuticura Soap and Ointment a trial. The scalp always had dry skin on it which did not itch as I gave it a good washing every morning and evening, but through the day the dandruff would show badly on my coat collar."

"I used the Cuticura Soap to shampoo my hair and rubbed in a little Cuticura Ointment. After a few treatments I found the head clean and healthy, free from all dry scales. Cuticura Soap and Ointment cured the dandruff, and now I use Cuticura to keep it from returning." (Signed) W. Dyke, Jan. 2, 1912.

For pimples and blackheads the following is a most effective and economy treatment: Gently smear the affected parts with Cuticura Ointment, on the end of the finger, but do not rub. Wash off the Cuticura Ointment in five minutes with Cuticura Soap and hot water and continue bathing for several days. This treatment is best on rising and retiring. At other times use Cuticura Soap freely for the toilet and bath, to assist in preventing inflammation, irritation and clogging of the pores. Sold everywhere. Liberal sample of each made free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address postcard "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Charged With Dynamite Conspiracy During the Strike in Lawrence Surrendered to Police
and Bail Was Fixed at $5000

BOSTON, Aug. 30.—President William A. Wood of the American Woollen Co. was arrested today on an indictment charging him with conspiring to distribute dynamite in Lawrence during the general strike in that city last January.

President Wood surrendered himself to the authorities and was accompanied by counsel.

The American Woollen Co., which bore the brunt of the great mill strike in Lawrence, controls 22 manufacturing plants in New England and New York state. About 15,000 persons are on the payrolls of the company's mills in Lawrence.

President Wood is one of the best known mill men in the country. He was born in Edgartown, of Azorean Portuguese parents. The family moved to New Bedford when Wood was an infant and there he was educated and learned the details of textile manufacturing while working as a clerk and millhand. Later he mastered the details of the banking business and participated in the reorganization of several Fall River mills. Wood later became an official of the Washington mill, Lawrence, now one of the plants of the American Woollen Co., which he with other business associates organized. Mr. Wood married a daughter of Dr. Frederick Ayer, a wealthy medical compounder of Lowell.

Good Advice

When your architect says: "If I were you I would instal a stationary vacuum cleaner"—it's good advice. Your vacuum cleaner is then stationed in the cellar and a suction pipe runs from the cleaner through each floor. Connect your cleaning tube where you wish—It's perfect!

body on Tuesday. On the same day Ernest W. Pitman, a contractor and builder, who constructed the Wood Worsted mills at Lawrence committed suicide at his home in Andover. Mr. Pelletier later said that Pitman had talked with him concerning the alleged "planting" of dynamite in Lawrence last winter and that he had been summoned to testify before the grand jury as to what he knew of the matter. Pitman left no note or other word as to his reason for shooting himself. Some of his friends attributed the suicide to worry over financial affairs, while other persons expressed the belief that he had killed himself rather than testify regarding the dynamite case. Yesterday the grand jury returned two indictments, both secret. Dennis J. Collins, a Cambridge dog fancier, was named in one of the indictments, charged with having transported dynamite unlawfully and with having placed the explosive in a railroad passenger car for transportation. Earlier in the day Collins had appeared before the grand jury and shortly after the indictments had been handed down he was arrested. He was held in $5000 for a hearing next Tuesday and in default of bail was taken to the county jail.

Furnished Bail of $5000
After the formalities had been arranged, Wood furnished cash bail of $5000.

President Wood learned yesterday that he had been indicted in connection with the Lawrence investigation and at once consulted his counsel, Samuel Powers. It was arranged that the two should appear at police headquarters and at the courthouse this morning at 9:30 Mr. Wood and Mr. Powers arrived at Pemberton court in an automobile and went immediately to the bureau of criminal investigation, where the papers in the case were served. Wood received the warrant from Capt. Armstrong of the bureau.

After remaining ten minutes at the bureau of criminal investigation, Wood and the lawyer crossed the square to the courthouse and entered the office of Dist. Atty. Pelletier. Mr. Pelletier was not in, but Asst. Atty. St. George conferred at length with Mr. Wood and his attorney.

Bail Commissioner Dyer was called to the office and accepted five one leaders denied that they had any intention of using any explosive to further their plans and charged that the dynamite had been "planted" for the purpose of discrediting the labor unions. Several Syrians arrested charged with having dynamite in their possession unlawfully were discharged in the police court.

Soon afterward John J. Breen, a Lawrence undertaker and a member of the Lawrence school committee, was arrested on a charge of having unlawfully placed the dynamite in the places where it was found. One of the sticks of explosive had been wrapped in a piece of paper which formed part of an undertaker's magazine bearing Breen's name and address. Breen was found guilty and fined $500. No further court action was taken in the case until the Suffolk county proceedings were started this week.

O'SULLIVAN'S OUTING

A special train has been chartered for the Canobie Lake outing, which will leave the North station, Boston, at 12:30 noon. The train will stop at Methuen instead of Canobie Lake station as announced on ticket—because of the distance between Canobie Lake hotel and Canobie Lake station. Electrics will be taken from Methuen direct to a Canobie Lake hotel. The round trip will be one dollar. Special tolleys meet the cars at Methuen.

SECOND ANNUAL DANCE

Last evening at Willow Dale dance hall was enjoyed by campers and friends, one of the finest dances held this season. The gathering, although the night was chilly, amounted to about two hundred couples who enjoyed themselves immensely. The hall was decorated handsomely with noted plants, flowers, Christmas trees and red, white and blue bunting and flags. Minor's orchestra rendered a number of pleasing selections which were well enjoyed by the dancers. Dancing closed at 11:25 o'clock.

TWO LABOR DAY CONCERTS

On account of the cold evenings
Mayor O'Donnell has decided to hold the two band concerts on Labor day in the afternoon instead of one in the evening. The Military band will play at Vernon park at 3 o'clock, while the Cadet band will supply music at Fort Hill park at the same time, weather permitting.

At 7:30 o'clock this evening Commissioner Brown will hold a hearing on the seven petitions for streets and sewers.

THE O. M. I. CADETS HAVING GREAT TIME

In Camp at Wilmington—"O'Sullivan Day" Observed Yesterday With Large Attendance—
Boys Break Camp Tomorrow

The O. M. I. Cadets are certainly enjoying their annual encampment at Milton's grove, despite the rather chilly atmospheric conditions, since moving to "the front." Last night the moving soldiers, retired to their tents at 9:30 and while many slept in the khaki uniforms, others felt quite comfortable in their regular sleeping apparel. Shortly after the taps had been sounded the lights were extinguished in the camps and all were soon in the land of nod, forgetting that it was cold, and thinking of the enjoyable day they had spent and anticipating the enjoyments of the two remaining days.
The cadets were up bright and early today, and many went to Silver lake and had a dip, while others engaged in the National game, until the signal for mess was given. After eating, the regular routine as was published in these columns on Tuesday was carried out.

Yesterday, however, was the banner day of the encampment, for the boys were visited by Humphrey O'Sullivan, Major Robert J. Crowley, Jr., T. L.
Harrington of Boston, James Thayer,

SOME FINE RACING AT READVILLE

Esther W. Won Massachusetts Stake Race Yesterday After a Hard Battle

READVILLE, Aug. 30.—Esther W. who were there saw a genuine old-fashioned Massachusetts battle; one of those desperately fought races that have made winning this event one of the coveted honors of the entire season.

The Massachusetts has not in years furnished such an exciting contest and the victory of Esther W. was a very popular one. She topped the summary because of that rare combination which is necessary when a field of first class, evenly matched trotters meet, speed, stamina and faultless handling.

The public was pleased to see New England's foremost reamman riding in front in this important turf fixture, while the blood of the old guard was made to tingle as Geers surprised everyone by bringing his pupil from behind in the first two heats.

Taken as a whole, the racing was the best that Readville has had in a long time. There was an interesting colt race won by Senorita from Will Snow's stable and a four-heat pacing race that had the crowd on their feet with every finish. This was won by Baron A, a handsome sullivan Fox is campaigning for Daniel F. Hart of Waterbury, Conn.

The time in this race was not fast for the class, but the best end of every mile was paced better than a two-min-

VOTE FOR THE QUEEN OF THE CARNIVAL.

Three Candidates for the Governorship of Vermont

BURLINGTON, Vt., Aug. 30.—Much interest is manifested in the state election to be held Tuesday, Sept. 3, and it is generally believed that the vote will give a fairly accurate idea of the alignment of the political parties this year.

Harland H. Howe, an attorney of St. Johnsbury, is the democratic candidate. He has made an active campaign, and a few of his sanguine friends say he will be elected. He does not make any such claim himself.

A. M. Fletcher, the Taft republican candidate, is a wealthy corporation promoter, and it is expected that he will be elected. The Rev. Frank Meigs is the progressive candidate, and the bull moose advocates declare he will have more votes than either of his opponents. C. F. Smith is the prohibition candidate, with the grange backing him.

CLAY CENTRE, Kan., Aug. 30.—Owners of the Wallace-Hagenbeck show which showed in Clay Centre Friday will think this town is their unlucky town. About four years ago they exhibited in Clay Centre and a little dog, barking at the elephants stampeded the herd.

When the show was here the other day a man was thrown from a horse and trampled on by other horses. A big wagon was stuck on the road and lost to the owners and when an effort was made to pull it out a bee's nest was stirred up.

The elephants also got a dose of the bees' medicine.

PARADE IN HONOR OF MARSHALL

Big Reception to Indiana's Governor in Maine—Closed Four Day's Speaking Tour

LEWISTON, Me., Aug. 30. Governor Thomas H. Marshall of Indiana, democratic nominee for the presidency, concluded his four-day speaking tour of Maine in the interests of Governor F. W. Plaford and the democratic state ticket with an address here last night. Lewisport's welcome was the most enthusiastic that the candidate has received in Maine. Previous to the rally Governor Marshall reviewed an old-fashioned torchlight parade and was cheered repeatedly by the marchers. He also received an ovation when he was introduced to the crowd that filled the big auditorium of the city hall. Governor Marshall discussed the trusts from what he called the "humanitarian" point of view. He said in part:

"The statement that in the beginning vast combinations of capital could, by reducing overhead charges, and by various other means, lessen the cost to the consumer, was probably true. They could, but they did not. Still, all my protests go back to the humanitarian as more important even than the economic. The greatest objection to the trust is that it closes the door of opportunity on the young man. To this statement, the answer is made that there are $10,000, $20,000 and $50,000 jobs awaiting men of these grades, and I suspect this statement is true, but what of it?"

"Suppose I could make $10,000 a year as manager of a trust, but suppose my happiness would be lessened by making a little business of my own out of which I might not make even $3000. And suppose—what is true—that I should be prevented by the trusts from running my little business and should be broken up if I tried to run it. Have I not then been deprived of the one thing in life that this republic ought to give a man—his chance to be happy?"

"If this system continues there will be great captains of finance and industry who will wage through slaughter to a throne and shut the gates of mercy on mankind. They will take the every man of today and crush out every little bit of personal ambition which these young men may have, and make of them only cogs in a great industrial system, and our boasted democracy where men were free will cease to exist save in name."

"The long have we contemplated great riches as the source of happiness. Contentment is the great thing for a people and no people can be content whose men may not engage in any business that they choose, which is not immoral in its character, and many a man is happier in the failure of his own plans than he would be in the success of a system."

RAPPED ROOSEVELT

PORTLAND, Me., Aug. 30.—Emil Seidel, candidate for vice president on the socialist party ticket, addressed a big rally in the Portland city hall last evening. He arraigned the other big parties and declared that they offered no adequate solution of the present difficulties that face the people of this country, but that the only remedy was to be found in socialism, which proposed to take over the trusts.

Mr. Seidel referred to General Roosevelt's definition of "good and bad trusts" and said that the socialist party called these "bad" trusts contributed to his campaign and those that did not were the "bad" trusts.

RINGS TEAR STOCKINGS

Many women who wear silk stockings complain of small rips and holes in the stockings and imagine that the stockings are faulty of make, but this is not always the difficulty. The cause of the little break often comes from running one's hand within the stocking while rings are on the fingers. These rings and the stockings in them catch the tiny threads and break them, causing the damage.

Small accounts collected and appreciated at the Old Lowell National bank.

STRIKE AT NEW HOTEL

Chamber Maids Demand Many Changes

BOSTON, Aug. 30.—The new Copley Plaza hotel is threatened with a chambermaid strike. If it goes into effect, Manager J. C. LaVine says he will get into the harness himself, making beds and doing other work of the chambermaids, before he would receive Edward Blochinger of the International Hotel Workers' union, local 6, or anyone else representing the union.

He had just received and returned by the same messenger boy, a letter from Organizer Blochinger, which he said he had not read and was not interested in.

The letter, it is said, contained a notice from the organizer that unless certain working conditions of the chambermaids and laundry workers of the hotel were changed a strike would be called immediately.

Mr. Blochinger's letter declares these girls get for a monthly salary only $15. They have to sleep two in a bed, and 10 to a room, and the lower part of the window of this room is nailed down. Each girl, he says, is entitled to a separate bed and, if possible, a separate room.

Their four day totals 14 hours and their shift day 11 hours, which he says violates chapter 484, Acts of 1911, that, "No woman shall be employed in laboring in a manufacturing or mechanical establishment more than 10 hours in any one day" and in no case shall the hours of labor exceed 54 in a week. He contends that these girls came within the spirit of this law.

The food furnished to the girls, he says, is of poor quality, poorly served and, at times, only to be procured when the girls are busy with their regular work.

Furthermore, he says, the housekeeper tyrannizes over these girls, who are entirely at her mercy. He asks an appointment with the management of the Copley Plaza to discuss these and other grievances.

A reporter called at the hotel and showed Manager LaVine a copy of Blochinger's letter. "I received one of these a short time ago," said Manager LaVine, "but when I noticed the signature I replaced it unread in the envelope and returned it to the sender. It was nothing I was interested in."

"You may say for me and put it just as strongly as you wish, that we will never recognize the International Hotel Workers' union. We will stone the dining room first. My directors have authorized me to act according to my own ideas in any such emergency and my ideas prompt me not to break any interference from this man or any others like him."

started and I have settled them all without trouble. I will win any strikes that may follow. If my present help goes out others will come in."

BOSTON, Aug. 30.—More than 600 persons, including nuns and brothers of the various Catholic teaching communities of the diocese, attended the fourth day's session of the Catholic Teachers' Institute, which was held yesterday at Boston College hall.

At the forenoon session the Rev. Robert Swickerath, S. J., of Holy Cross, Worcester, talked on "Poetry, how to explain it and make its teaching practical."

In the afternoon he discussed "How to teach history and what to emphasize so that its teaching may be made practical."

The subject this morning will be "Moral training and physical discipline—School management and discipline," and in the afternoon, which will be the closing meeting, the topic will be "Right and wrong methods of punishment."

ROOSEVELT APPEALS TO FARMERS

And Flays Penrose and Archbold
—Spoke in Three Cities Making Whirlwind Finish

BURLINGTON, Vt., Aug. 30.—For 160 miles, former President Roosevelt raced over the road in an automobile yesterday, proclaiming the doctrines of the progressive party. He made eight speeches and his day's work lasted from 9 o'clock in the morning until nearly midnight, when he arrived in Burlington, where he spent the night. He was covered with a thick layer of dust from head to foot, but said he was in fine trim and had had a "bully day."

In his speeches yesterday Col. Roosevelt made slashing attacks on Senator Penrose of Pennsylvania and John D. Archbold, president of the Standard Oil company. He denounced them as representatives of "the combination between crooked business and crooked politics" and said they had condemned themselves by their testimony before the senate committee which has been investigating campaign contributions. The ex-president also assailed both the republican and democratic parties and urged the voters of this staunch republican state not to be reluctant to leave the republican party which he said no longer represented them.

In his speech last night Col. Roosevelt demanded immediate repeal of the Canadian reciprocity law enacted by congress, saying that while it was on the statute books the Canadian parliament might adopt the measure and put it into effect. He attacked the democratic party for its stand on the tariff, saying if its plank were put into effect it would "cause utter ruin both to our agricultural and industrial communities and have almost no effect in helping the consumer."

He also gave high praise to his running mate, Gov. Johnson, and after mentioning the fact that both of the democratic candidates were governors, said no other governor since the Civil war had accomplished as much as Gov. Johnson.

During the first of his three days' campaigning in Vermont Col. Roosevelt everywhere encountered friendly crowds of good size.

The colonel's day began when he reached North Bennington at 9 o'clock. He went by automobile to Bennington for breakfast and made his first speech. Then began an all day fight over the roads in an effort to keep up with a hard schedule.

From Bennington he struck out to the north with Manchester as the first stop. On the way he halted at Arlington for a speech so that it was time for lunch when he had finished speaking at Manchester. When he set forth from Manchester for the afternoon run to Burlington he was two hours behind time. On the way he made addresses at Wallingford and Middlebury, where he spoke to the largest crowd of the day at the state fair. Brandon and Rutland. The last two hours of the run was made in darkness and it was past 9 o'clock when the colonel's exhausted white horse finally whizzed into Burlington. His address here was delivered in a theatre which was altogether too small to accommodate those who wished to hear him.

In one of his speeches Col. Roosevelt explained how it was that he came to espouse the political principles advocated by the progressive party. When he went into public life, he said, he had no idea of the way in which "big business" was conducted.

"I was puzzled some years ago," he said, "by the opposition I encountered from certain big business men who I thought were respectable. I was shocked and horrified when I learned what they were doing."

"Here in Vermont," said Mr. Roosevelt, "I feel that we have a peculiar right to appeal on behalf of the progressive party. You men and women of Vermont represent the very type of American citizens to whom we must trust, when we strive to make this government really a government by the people themselves in the interest of all the people, and not of any one class of the people. From the days of Ethan Allen to the present time the people of Vermont have sustained the same character for rugged independence and for the possession of a strong individual initiative combined with the ability to co-operate one with another. These are the very qualities that we are endeavoring to make more widespread in this republic of ours and to develop as basis in our government."

"The national progressive platform, like your own progressive platform here in Vermont, represents a radically new departure when compared with any of the political platforms of the last 40 years. But the principles that our platform contains are not new. They are fundamentally the principles of Lincoln, the principles of Washington. What is new is that we progressives are trying in good faith to apply these principles to the actual and vital needs of the present day instead of confining ourselves to praising our forefathers for having applied them to the needs of their days."

"In 1860 it was of no use merely to profess allegiance to the principles of 1776; what was necessary then was to apply these principles to the current year, so we in our turn must not confine ourselves to praising the men of Lincoln's time for the way they met issues that were living then but are dead now; we must take the principles of Abraham Lincoln and apply them to the issues of the present day. The national progressive convention at Chicago thus applied the principles of 1776 and 1860 to the issues of 1912."

"Both of the old parties, on the contrary, have confined themselves to thrashing over again the old straw. There is not one particle of hope for social or economic reform contained in the triumph of either the democratic or republican parties. Each is boss-ridden and privilege-controlled. Neither dares to face the real issues of today. Each proposes sham remedies and tries to distract the attention of the people from their real needs by the empty sound and fury with which they quarrel over false issues."

"The two old parties have utterly lost touch with the facts of modern economic life, and they serve no other purpose than that of screens, each for its own sinister alliance of crooked politicians and crooked financiers who rule and pilage with impunity. It is no wonder that where this is the case the average man grows to regard politics as a game between two sets of sharpers at the expense of a middle-headed public. Instead of a representative government, ours has become an unrepresentative government, and the popular will is continually frustrated by the politicians, misrepresented in the legislature, set at naught by the courts, and trampled on by the forces of privilege."

"Neither of the old parties shows even the least faint promise of breaking up this condition of affairs. The triumph of either would perpetuate it. The leaders of neither show even an understanding of what the problem means. There is nothing in either the republican or the democratic platform which so much as hints at even an understanding of what issues are really before our people."

"The new progressive platform, on the contrary, boldly grapples with these issues. Remember that loyalty to a name often means the most dreadful disloyalty to the principle for which that name once stood. In 1860 loyalty to the party of Jackson, Jackson and Henry Clay, meant the support of a platform repudiating the principles that all bore the names of these great men and all bore the new republican party, so in our day we can be loyal to the republicanism of Lincoln by scornfully tossing aside the republicanism that dances in rattle of corruption and cupidity under the whips of Penrose, Barnes and Craggsholm. The progressive party is the only party of today which in any shape or way represents the republican party of Lincoln's time, and in reality it is a continuation of Lincoln's party."

"Now here in Vermont, remember that your state campaign is hitched with the national campaign. This is no in the first place because our opponents, representing both the old machines, are doing everything they can to elect their respective candidates here with the avowed purpose of thereby influencing the effect in other states. It is so in the next place because our progressive platform deals with great reforms which must be brought accomplished through state action no less than through national action."

"No man has a right to call himself a progressive at all if he is supporting either of the old parties, whether in the nation or in the several states. Neither of these old parties has shown the slightest understanding of the need for social and economic reform. Whoever supports either of them here in Vermont, whether in the national election or in the state election, is turning his back on the future and is settling his date claim to be really a progressive candidate unless he repudiates the national platforms of both the old parties, and supports us and our platform."

"Our candidate for governor in Vermont, Mr. Metzger, is a man who is with us and is a leader among us because he possesses the vision clearly to see both the evils that afflict us and the need for grappling with those evils, and because he possesses also the high purpose and intelligent ability necessary if those evils are really to be met and abated."

"If you elect him and make your state government progressive, you will put Vermont in the lead of the movement. If you fail to do so, you will not stop the movement, but you will put Vermont in the position of being dragged on by it instead of heading it. We shall win in this fight. And my plea to you is that Vermont, the Green Mountain state, which has always stood bright in every great movement of the past, shall take the lead in standing right in this great movement of the present.

"I make an especial appeal to the farmers of Vermont. Our platform, one of the three platforms shows an intelligent purpose to deal fundamentally with the causes that are at work to harm American agriculture and to diminish the full value of life in the open country. We are ready to grapple both with the immediate evils and capable of remedy and with the deeper rooted ones which need long and careful work in the way both of examination and of action on examination. The problem is of vital importance. No war could damage this nation to the extent that it would be damaged by even a small degree of soil exhaustion; and a large degree of soil exhaustion would work ruin such as no arts of peace could avert."

COLONEL'S SECOND DAY

ST. ALBANS, Vt., Aug. 30.—Col. Roosevelt was within a few miles of the Canadian border when he started on his second day's stumping tour of the state today. He turned south, however, from the meeting here with the big fair at Morrisville, a smaller gathering at Barton and an evening meeting at St. Johnsbury as the other speaking points on the day's journey.

There was a large crowd here when word was received that the progressive presidential leader had left Burlington where he spent the night and was heading for St. Albans. Progressive colors, effigies of the bull moose and other evidences of support were conspicuous, while the usual hand-played popular selections and progressive hymns during the interval.

From St. Albans and Morrisville Roosevelt swung today into the second congressional district where the progressive sentiment is said to be much stronger than on the western slopes of the Green mountains.

Col. Roosevelt complimented the state leaders on the brand of weather which had been obtained for his tour. The air today was very clear and as he sped along the way from Burlington to this city the Adirondacks loomed up to the left across the lake very distinctly, while the heights of the Green mountains rolled up from the right side of the path. It was an exhilarating day for stump speaking or any other outdoor occupation.

LIST OF PRECINCT OFFICERS

Adopted by Municipal Council
This Morning as Submitted
by Mr. Donnelly

A corrected list of precinct officers for the coming primaries and elections was this morning submitted to the municipal council and accepted as presented. The list was prepared in Commissioner Donnelly's office, and is as follows:

O. M. I. CADETS Continued

Rev. James McKenna, O. M. I., superior of the Tewksbury novitiate, Dr. William T. Carroll, Dr. William Collins, Mr. John Martin, of Everett, the latter an uncle of Rev. Denis A. Sullivan of the cadets, and many others. It is estimated that over 400 people called at the grounds during the day. The guests did not arrive until four o'clock in the afternoon, but prior to the "big time," the young "vets" had a great time.

There were several ball games on during the day, but the one of 7 innings between the Boston Campers and the O. M. I. Cadets proved one of the most interesting contests ever seen at the Grove. The game was replete with through the "lowering of the colors." This was done with remarkable cleverness and ease, showing the great training that the boys have received. During the entire program the music was furnished by the Cadets' band, and the selections were very pleasing.

After going through their work, Mr. Sullivan waved to Major Haggerty, who gave the command: "halt." They all then faced the guests and Mr. Sullivan spoke in behalf of the young soldiers, telling how they appreciated the many favors conferred on them by Mr. O'Sullivan, and how they treasured his friendship and his visits to them during the past. The speaker told how the suggestion to confer the commission of honorary colonel spectacular plays, by members of both teams, and the result was not determined until the last inning, then the score stood 3 to 5 in favor of the Boston campers. In the lineup of the winners some very familiar faces were noticed. Wright, a former learner, was on the mound and four players who were in the Greater Boston league at the opening of the season were also with the victors. While the Cadets were much younger and lighter than their opponents they put up a great game, and the athletic instructor, Maj. McCann was well pleased with the showing his charges made.

Other members of the regiment engaged in running and jumping, while more put on the puts and exchanged "greetings." The swimming pool at Silver Lake was visited by some of the aquatic performers, and more played other field games.

At 3:30 o'clock Military Instructor Lieut. Bernard McArdle gave the signal to the buglers to announce the assembly call, and Major Haggerty and his "men" marched to the drill grounds. There they remained until Mr. O'Sullivan and the other guests arrived the latter coming to the grounds in machines. When the autos conveying the visitors were sighted there was a great cheer, and when Mr. O'Sullivan alighted another round of applause went up.

Again there was a cheer and then the colonel spoke. He thanked the boys for the honor they had bestowed upon him, in making him an honorary colonel and assured them that he would always obey orders. He said that whatever he did for the cadets, was because he took a great interest in them and their work. He further said that they should always live up to the teachings of their superior and be paid a great tribute to their chaplain, Rev. Fr. Sullivan and their other superiors. He said he regretted that he could not spend an evening with the boys, but it would be impossible at this time. He again thanked the boys and congratulated them, after which he dismissed the regiment.

When the jubilation had subsided and after the guests were seated to the reviewing, the cadets went through their work. They first marched in dress parade, attired in their pretty blue coats and white duck trousers, by the visitors and the youngsters were accorded a great hand by the large crowd assembled around the grounds. The regiment then marched for inspection after which they went

The next thing on the program was supper and all marched to the dining "room," where Colonel O'Sullivan, the guests and the superiors of the regiment occupied the head table. The Cadets were seated at tables surrounding their honored guests. After supper Mr. O'Sullivan and his party moved back to the city, leaving the grounds about 4:30 o'clock.

The day was truly "O'Sullivan Day," and the colonel might well feel proud of the reception tendered him.

The boys will break camp tomorrow afternoon and will return home in special electric.

CLUB ETIQUETTE VIOLATED
SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 29.—Failing in their efforts to sign Willie Ritchie and One Round Hogan for a match in September, Promoter Coffroth and Billy Nolan, Ritchie's manager, staged an impromptu bout of their own at the Olympic club here. Nolan disclosed today a disclosed check as evidence of what he termed Coffroth's assault. According to Nolan he was called to the club by Coffroth and found the promoter in a room with several friends. Coffroth accused him of "running out" in withdrawing Ritchie from the Hogan match. When Nolan expressed resentment, Coffroth, he alleges, violated club etiquette by hitting him on the cheek. The men were separated after a lively scuffle.

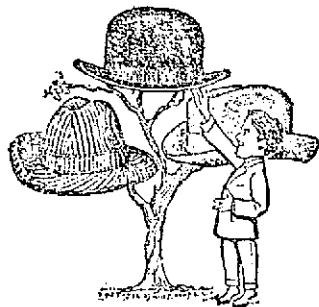

Nolan was explicit in pointing out that the remarks could not have been made by a blow and that they bore "all the earmarks of a bite."

IMMIGRANTS ARRIVING THREE MEN WERE KILLED

125 Reached Here Yesterday—Depot News

And One Fatally Injured in Railroad Accident

One hundred and twenty-five immigrants arrived in this city yesterday, but very few remained here. They came in on the Fall river train which connects with the boats from New York, where they arrived from their country. The majority of the party were Greeks, some former residents of this country, who went over to bring their friends back. Many spoke good English, and were attired in American clothing. The greater number, however, wore the clothes of their fatherland, and carried bags and bundles of every description.

The visitors were met at the station by many local friends, who remained there until the former departed for their destinations. One hundred members of the party took the train for Nashua and Manchester, N. H., while the others went to Lawrence.

The New York train, which is due to arrive at the local depot at 11:45, did not reach here until 12:25 today, the lateness being due to the heavy travel. There were 16 cars on the train, including four passenger cars, 11 parlor coaches and one 60-foot baggage car, the latter being packed with trunks and bags. Every car was well filled upon reaching Lowell, and many Lowellites also boarded.

Frank Goss, the popular baggage-master at the Boston & Maine station, left today for Northend, N. B., Grand Manan, where he will spend the next two weeks, visiting friends there. Mr. Goss, during the past few months, has been on the jump as the baggage arriving here has been exceptionally heavy, and his rest from activities comes at a very opportune time.

The carpet mill closed tonight, and will remain so until Tuesday morning.

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 30.—Three men were killed, one fatally injured and a number slightly hurt, when the Pennsylvania railroad train which left here this morning for Cleveland ran into a wrecking train engaged in cleaning a freight wreck that had occurred a short time before near Conway, west of this city. The dead were A. J. Coughenour, engineer of the passenger train, and two unidentified laborers. Fireman Vaughan of the passenger train was fatally crushed. The wreck train was clearing the freight wreck and the engine section of a steam derrick was cut over the passenger track. Railroad officials say a flagman gave the proper warning, but it was disregarded.

IN POLICE COURT

SHORT SESSION IN JUDGE ENRIGHT'S COURT TODAY

This morning's session of the police court was one of the shortest that has been held since Judge Enright occupied the bench. There were but two cases to be heard.

One of the cases was continued after argument by counsel for defendants, and the other was that of John J. Jones and James Manor, who were charged with riding a bicycle on the sidewalk. Patrolman Charles A. Hamilton testified that the defendants were in the back of riding on the sidewalk in Varnum avenue and despite the fact that he had warned them on several occasions to desist they continued to use the sidewalk instead of the main thoroughfare. He said that when he had cautioned them they had laughed at him and rode away. Last night he succeeded in capturing the pair and one of the men did not have a bell on his machine, which is also a violation of the law.

The court, after considering the evidence in the case, found both men guilty and ordered each to pay a fine of $5.

ACUTE INDIGESTION FATAL

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—Ezra Crawford Bartlett, a retired mine owner, suffered an attack of acute indigestion while playing basketball in the gymnasium of the New York Athletic club, on Central Park south, yesterday afternoon and died a few minutes later. He had suffered from indigestion and his physician prescribed a diet and advised him to take exercise.

The superintendent of the club notified the coroner's office and the body was taken to an undertaking establishment after Coroner Holtzhauser had satisfied himself of the cause of death.

Mr. Bartlett was 47 years old and was born in Louisville, Ky. When he was about 30 years old he went to Arizona, where he is said to have made a comfortable fortune in gold and silver mines. Some six or eight years ago he retired from the mining business and came to New York, where he had inherited himself in real estate investments. During the years he was in New York he lived in the Imperial Arms apartment house, at 610 Riverside Drive.

Mr. Bartlett is survived by his father, who is a grain broker in Kansas City, and by a brother and two sisters.

McDermott, and burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery. The services were largely attended by relatives and friends of the deceased and the casket was adorned with many floral tributes. One floral design, a large cross, was composed of roses, lilies and other flowers and was inscribed "Daughter." It was the gift of Mrs. Farnum, the mother; another beautiful piece was a pillow inscribed "Mabel" from the husband; Mr. and Mrs. Patrick McAndrew sent a large wreath inscribed "At Rest" and there were other floral offerings. The requiem chant was sung by the choir. The casket was borne by Frank Boyle and George Cusick. John Kelly was the organist. The bearers were Thomas Patrick McAndrew and the undertakers were C. H. Besides her husband and mother she is survived by two brothers, James T. and Richard J. Farnum and two sisters, Margaret A. and Anne Virginia Farnum. Rev. Fr. Wood, O. M. I., read the committal prayers at the grave.

SATISFACTORY EXHIBIT

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—Bank exchanges continue in notable large volume and returns this week from all leading cities in the United States again make a remarkably satisfactory exhibit, the total as compiled by Dun's Review, aggregating $2,380,569,943, an increase of 19.2 per cent. as compared with the same week last year and of 12.3 per cent. compared with the corresponding week in 1910. New York city showed a gain over last year of 12 per cent. and over two years ago of 14.5 per cent., while the returns from outside cities, as a whole are hardly as favorable as those of the leading center, the total showing gains of 6.7 per cent. and 7.9 per cent. respectively over the ten previous years, the increases at numerous points reflect generally active conditions.

SOME STRIKE ON IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—The strike of the sand excavation teamsters, which started Wednesday on the new Lexington avenue subway, spread yesterday to all parts of the city, holding up work on all the new subways, including the Fourth avenue tunnel in Brooklyn.

Work was also stopped on 95 per cent. of the contracts in Manhattan where excavations for new buildings or foundations are going on. Hundreds of loft buildings and other large structures, the foundation work of which it was intended to finish before winter, will be delayed.

About 1200 sand and excavation teamsters and 500 helpers were out to last night. The cellar workers also quit and in a number of buildings the bricklayers could not work on account of lack of mortar.

MAKING FAST TIME

ELGIN, Ill., Aug. 30.—Gill Anderson and Charles Merz, both running Stutz cars, in a great drivers' duel for the Illinois trophy at 205 miles, furnished the feature of the opening day of the annual Elgin automobile races this afternoon.

At the end of 101 miles, or 12th lap, Merz led Anderson by barely eight seconds. In the three laps, Fred and 152 miles Hughie Hughes, with a Mercer, led at the end of 101 miles.

Harry Endicott, driving a Mason special, won the Jencks trophy at 191 miles, after the only two other entries had been eliminated by accident. Endicott drove at an average of 59 3-19 miles an hour. Time, 1:40.22.

LONDON, Aug. 30.—The question of Tibet's future promises to become as great a bone of contention as that of Persia. ## KOREAN CONSPIRACY

ALL OF THE 123 ACCUSED PLEADED NOT GUILTY

SEOUL, Korea, Aug. 30.—All of the 123 accused in the Korean conspiracy trial pleaded not guilty today when the hearing was resumed. Ten of the prisoners testified that the former confessions of plotting against the life of Governor General Count Terauchi had been secured by maltreatment and torture. An eloquent plea in the prisoners' defense was made by Dr. Usewa, one of the leading members of the Tokio bar, and also a Japanese member of parliament.

Even Christians, he admitted, committed crimes, but his clients had also been educated in the arts and sciences and were hardly likely to commit crime. The Roman judges, he said, were so impressed with the purity of Christ's motives that they declared him guiltless.

Velour, Velvet and Felt Hats

Ladies, have you felt that uncomfortable yet healthy chill in the air these mornings and evenings? You know what it means. That hat of straw or linen which you thought would do for several weeks more, will soon have to be discarded and one of a heavier and warmer material given its place. We had foresight enough to see that it would soon be time for Fall Hats, and this week, in New York, when we were given the chance to make an early Fall purchase of classy stylish hats, the kind which will be in vogue the coming season, we closed in with one of the largest manufacturers for this shipment. Having received them at an extremely low figure we will have the pleasure of selling them at prices which, we can say without hesitation, will be lower than any that will be quoted this Fall. The lot is a large one, of varied designs and colors. See the display in our windows.

The reports from the country are conflicting, but it is generally believed that the situation is becoming less alarming. The United States is still maintaining a strong presence in the country, and it is expected that the situation will soon be settled.

HUSKING BEE AS DESCRIBED IN THE HISTORY OF MIDDLESEX COUNTY

The following abstract which may be of some interest to the people of the present age, concerning husking bees, was taken from an article in the history of Middlesex county dealing with the town of Framingham. It is a very interesting account of a custom which was once very popular in the county. The article describes how the bees were held, and how the people would gather together to husk corn. It is a good example of the kind of social life that was once common in the county.

TAFT AT COLUMBUS CITY TO CELEBRATE CENTENARY OF ITS BIRTH AS CAPITAL COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 30.—(President.)—Taft came to Columbus yesterday to help the city celebrate the centenary of its birth as capital of Ohio. For 19 hours the president was the busy central figure of all the ceremonies that his friends and the celebration committee could devise. He breakfasted with a governor, a mayor, a congressman, lunch with a senator, and dined with a bar association. He made speeches to the farmers of his home state from a stand on the State Fair grounds and to the lawyers at a 50-a-plate banquet last night. He motored over busy streets and slippery roads to keep his engagements, with a screaming fire department automobile 100 feet behind. He shook hands with a few thousand persons at the fair grounds and in the rooms of the state capital and kissed a few babies; looked upon the freaks displayed in front of the side-shows at the fair; showed the proper enthusiasm at the exhibits, and sat on an hour in the grandstand while the chess and the trained horses, the band and the trotters and powers maneuvered in front of him. Before he went to the dinner of the Bar Assn. last night he talked Ohio politics with Chairman Daubert, of the Ohio republican executive committee, his secretary, Carmi Thompson, who is an Ohioan, and R. B. Brown of Zanesville, republican nominee for governor and other party leaders. Apparently the president enjoyed every minute of the day. The only troublesome incident was caused by a demented woman who tried to rush him at his hotel. She was arrested and declared she was the president's wife.

WOULD BURN HOUSE INCENDIARY PLAN FOILED BY OFFICER BOSTON, Aug. 29.—A carefully planned attempt to destroy by fire the house owned and occupied by Mr. and Mrs. John W. O'Connell, 5 Newport avenue, Hyde Park, was discovered yesterday by officers of station 15. A lamp of cotton wicks, saturated with kerosene oil, was found in the cellar, from which fumes of flames were coming when the police and firemen arrived. When the police were informed, a trap of kerosene soaked in oil was found running up the stairway into the kitchen, and from there to every other room in the house, including even closets. In each room the line of oil-soaked waste was carried over articles of furniture, and so placed that with half an hour's headway the house would have been a mass of flames. Mr. and Mrs. O'Connell are in Maine, and that the property was not burned is due to Howard B. Richer, who lives next door. Mr. Richer saw fire and smoke issuing from the cellar and windows and telephoned to the house of Engine 48. The doors were locked and the firemen were forced to batter them down to effect an entrance.

GOOD OUTLOOK FROM THE COTTON GOODS TRADE The personal report of visiting buyers on agricultural and industrial conditions in their respective districts and the cheerful views these visitors held regarding the outlook for a good business for the next six months, had a strengthening influence on the cotton goods factors on the primary market. Indeed, these opinions, coupled with the mail notices that were received from the leading jobbing centers, contributed materially to make first hands generally optimistic regarding the prospects for a substantial business during the coming season. While politics is not playing as prominent a part in checking the current of trade, nevertheless it cannot be gainsaid that the political uncertainties are going to keep commitment down until the atmosphere is cleared. Another element of doubt, and by far the most important hindrance to trade so far as the immediate business is concerned, is the future status of the raw material. Jobbers are not anticipating their near future requirements as they usually do at this period when values seem to be firmly established, but the conservative buying methods being pursued by secondary distributors in all parts of

MAY BE DEPORTED

Erring Couple Arraigned
in Police Court

Katrina Melcho, demure and dejected, occupied a seat on the bench in front of the cage in police station this morning, while Argeris Georgiou, her paramour, was seated behind her, being separated only by the wire cage in which he was enclosed. Both were charged with adultery.

Their appearance in police court was nothing more or less than the second chapter in the sequence of events since their arrival in Lowell yesterday morning when they created a sensation at the Middlesex street station and subsequently went through the third degree at the office of the clerk of the police court and in the office of the superintendent of police.

As exclusively stated in yesterday's issue of The Sun, Nestor Coramellis and Katrina Melcho were married in Greece four years ago and one child was born to them. The child died shortly after the former left the old country three years ago to come to the United States, where he intended to make a home for his wife. When he left, it is alleged that Georgiou became acquainted with Coramellis' wife, and several weeks ago Georgiou deserted his wife and child and with the Melcho woman came to this country, and arrived in this city yesterday morning.

When the couple reached this city they were met by Coramellis, who claimed the woman as his wife, and as a result of the controversy at the station the trio were sent to the police station, but inasmuch as there was no infraction of the law in this city the local officials were unable to hold any of the parties.

The matter was reported to the immigration officials, however, as it was taken for granted that neither Georgiou nor the woman could have landed in this country if one or the other, or both, had not given false answers to the immigration officers when they landed in New York.

Yesterday afternoon the immigration officers in Boston were notified of the incident and last night Inspector Lennon came to this city and working in conjunction with the police, Georgiou and the Melcho woman were arrested in a house in Branch street near the corner of School street by Patrolmen Tsaffaras and John Mahan and sent to the police station, where they were charged with adultery.

It is alleged that after leaving the police station Georgiou's brother engaged a room in the Branch street house and intimated that it was to be used by him, but instead he turned the key over to Georgiou, and the latter and the woman went to that place last night and upon entering the room placed the couple under arrest.

Lawyer Daniel J. Donahue appeared for the defendants in police court this morning at the request of Georgiou's brother, entered a plea of not guilty and asked for a continuance until tomorrow morning. He informed the court that an officer from the immigration office in Boston had been in this city yesterday and went back to the Hub for the purpose of securing papers for the deportation of the couple.

YOUNG JOY RIDERS

PURLOIN BICYCLES AND LEAVE
THEM ANY OLD PLACE

Bicycle thieves have been operating in this city for the past several weeks and although the police have been very active in trying to locate the malefactors they have been unsuccessful, inasmuch as the persons who take the machines are principally boys who are in the habit of going "joy riding" on bicycles and leaving them wherever they find it convenient to make a "get-away" in case they see a person in a blue uniform with brass buttons attached.

At the present time there are several bicycles at the police station, some of which have been stolen, while others have been picked up by patrolmen and sent to the station, they have been found in the street with no apparent owner.

Although it is claimed that the riding of the bicycle is on the wane, there are many enthusiasts who still use the wheels and enjoy riding as thousands of others did years ago, but at the present time they are used more for commercial and business purposes than for recreation.

Many people who have occasion to stop at various places on the different streets in the city leave their bicycles with one of the pedals resting on the curbings. In a number of instances when they return they find that the machine is missing. The matter is then reported to the police and the officers of the department are notified of the loss.

With the description of the machine the officers as a general rule are able to locate the bicycle either in one of the pawn shops or abandoned in the street and in each instance the machines are sent to the police station.

Several years ago it was a common practice for bicycles to be stolen and sold in other cities or towns, but now the principal offenders are boys who, upon seeing a bicycle resting near the curbings, mount the machine and ride for several miles and then abandon it.

As a general rule the officers on the beat, where the bicycles are found, send the machines to the police station, where they are later identified by their owners.

Fired Revolver at Him
Entering Window

BROCKTON, Aug. 30. A masked burglar, who escaped in an automobile was near death last night when a bullet from a 28-calibre revolver, fired by Mrs. May Baleson of 341 West street, whizzed by his head as he was about to enter a bedroom window. After the shot the man ran to an auto which was waiting for him and rode away, a companion at the wheel.

Mrs. Baleson was sitting on the side of the bed of her little boy, whom she had just undressed, and there was no light in the room. She first heard someone at work on the screen outside the window, and then saw a hand reach up to the top. She picked up her revolver, which was handy, and when the masked face of a man, armed in a long and light auto coat, appeared in the window, Mrs. Baleson blazed away. The man dropped, the ground rolled over, and ran to the auto, which was 30 yards away on Forest avenue. There were no lights on the machine.

Mrs. Baleson then telephoned to the police station, and Inspector Morse and Patrolmen Skinner and Bryan went to the house, where they found a bullet hole in the exact center of the screen.

showing that Mrs. Baleson took good aim.

Mrs. Baleson's husband, Oscar S. Baleson, was not at home. He is an ice dealer, and frequently has large sums of money on his person. The house is in the outskirts of the city, with no other houses near.

Attend sports at Bunting park Saturday afternoon. Admission ten cents.

MADE SEVEN SPEECHES

Gov. Wilson Spent Very
Strenuous Day

SEA GIRT, N. J., Aug. 30.—Tired wrists and aching fingers were reminders today to Governor Wilson that he had spent the most strenuous day of his life in his trip through Pennsylvania. The governor returned that he had spoken in his important tour of 210 miles through Pennsylvania to nearly 40,000 people and that he had shaken hands in one day with about 200,000 individuals.

The most interesting revelation to Governor Wilson was the fact that he found many of the people who had been converted to the old-fashioned idea of campaigning, which at first he thought to abandon in favor of a few scheduled addresses.

The governor plainly was pleased by the thousands who greeted him along the journey, more so because his recollections along the line were not planned, his special car being attached to a regular train.

The governor filed his Pennsylvania experience so well that he may make more speeches there. He goes to Scranton Sept. 15, but indications are that he will concentrate his campaign in the next month on New York and Pennsylvania and more speeches in the latter state may be looked for.

PLOWING AT NIGHT

DALLAS, Tex., Aug. 30.—Farmers in northern Texas are plowing by moonlight to escape the attacks of a fly that is causing death of live stock in that section of the state. Horses and cattle are being driven blind by the pest, and cows refuse to eat. Dairymen are heavy sufferers, supplies of milk and butter being greatly reduced. The people also are suffering attacks of the fly. Horses are being covered with blankets. Defeated Athletics by a Score of 8 to 1

BOSTON, Aug. 30.—Boston added another victory to its growing total and increased its lead in the pennant race yesterday at the expense of the Athletics and Eddie Plank. The score was 8 to 1. Ray Collins pitched a shut out game, assisted principally by Speaker's spectacular fielding, until the ninth inning when errors by Verkes and Hooper put Philadelphia in a position to score its only run on McInnis' double.

Plank's delivery was easy for the Red Sox. Brown, who succeeded Plank in the fifth, allowed only two hits. Plank was forced out of the game after the fourth, when Boston tallied four runs on hard hitting and a pass. The score:

QUESTION OF $35,000 ADDITION

To Greenhalge School Considered by Council—More Rooms Required for Pupils

An adjourned meeting of the municipal council was held this forenoon and considerable business was transacted. The principal matter of interest was the question of the proposed $35,000 for a six-room addition to the Greenhalge school, and after some discussion on the subject, it was voted to let the matter go over to the next meeting.

The meeting was called to order at 10:25 o'clock by Mayor O'Donnell with all members present but Alderman Barrett. The first matter taken up was a communication from Supt. A. Whitcomb relative to the proposed addition of the Greenhalge school. In his letter the superintendent stated that there was an attendance of 517 pupils last year at the school with an increase of 50 over the previous year, and that in all probability there would be another increase this year. He also stated that at least six more rooms would be needed to accommodate the children of that district. The communication was placed on file.

Commissioner Cummings presented his revised list of pre-emptory officers to be at the coming primaries and elections and the same which is published in another column was accepted as presented.

The Bay State Street railway company presented a petition for a permit to extend and alter or relocate its tracks in Middlesex street between Burnside and Pawtucket streets, and the petition was referred to the commissioner of streets and highways and a hearing was set for Sept. 17 at 2 P. M.

The next matter taken up was the proposed $35,000 loan for a six-room addition to the Greenhalge school, the said money to be paid in 20 annual payments.

Commissioner Cummings stated he was in favor of the loan and recommended the same. He spoke at length on the question, saying that he was the one who attended the hearing at the school some time ago. Upon his advice the school board visited some of the temporary structures which are being used in Boston as school houses, but he said their report was not favorable. He said the school board later examined what was needed and they accepted the plans prepared by Architect Henry L. Bourne, which called for a six-room addition, each room to cost about $5000. Mr. Cummings also stated that he interviewed Rev. J. N. Jacques, pastor of St. Louis' parish relative to an addition to the parochial school which would greatly relieve the district, but he said the priest told him he did not contemplate any addition for the present time.

Mr. Cummings in the course of his remarks said the pupils of the Lakeview avenue school may possibly be shifted to the Greenhalge school if the latter is enlarged inasmuch as many of the parents complain that the rooms in the building are not adequate for the purpose, for they are only separated with a thin partition and it is impossible for the teachers to carry on their work in a satisfactory manner. I found if the building is erected it can be done in three or four months and I favor borrowing the amount needed and start work immediately.

Mayor O'Donnell said he was in favor of the proposed addition, but inasmuch as the school would not be ready until March, he favored delaying for some time in order to save probably $1000 in interest. He also said the council had been very generous in loans this year and if this proposed loan was voted it would bring them closer to the debt limit, and he suggested that the matter rest until January and so the borrowing on next year's account.

Commissioner Cummings moved the passage of the proposed loan, but inasmuch as the motion was not seconded, the mayor moved and it was so voted to let the matter rest until the next meeting, Mr. Cummings voting against.

Another important question brought before the meeting was that of an ordinance providing a penalty for whoever maliciously calls the ambulance on a false alarm. This was brought about by Commissioner Cummings in the course of a complaint brought to the mayor by Dr. H. Spaulding, who supervises the ambulance service, and who claims the ambulance often responds to false alarm calls. It was voted to instruct the city solicitor to draw up an ordinance to that effect.

The heads of the police districts, furnished by the National Security Co., which had been accepted by the city solicitor, but not by the council, were this morning approved and accepted.

The pensioner Cummings then took up the matter of the vaults in the police court building in Market street, said no one in city hall need fear that vaults will be installed in the building, for contrary to reports to that effect the state authorities would not permit it. The vaults at the police station at the request of the county commissioners are being delayed for some time until the return of Clerk Savage of the police court, for with the installing of the vaults some of the windows of the building will have to be closed and the selection of those windows is being left to the clerk. "I want authority in behalf of the council," said Mr. Cummings, "to let the county commissioners to sign a 10 year lease for rental of the room and that such rental goes to the treasurer, and this to be left to the judgment of the council." At this point the mayor suggested that the city solicitor draw up an agreement with the county commissioners and see that they take a lease and pay the price wanted. A vote was taken and the result was in the negative.

Commissioner Cummings was granted leave to purchase 100 barrels of tar for the street department and also to sell $2 worth of dynamite to a local contractor. Commissioner Cummings then took up the matter of removing a place to another, the cost of said removal not to exceed $100. The meeting was adjourned at 11 o'clock until 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

TOO MANY AUTOS
BOSTON, Aug. 29.—The finance commission in a communication to Mayor Fitzgerald yesterday requested that he take further steps toward selecting a site for a municipal garage until the commission has completed an investigation it is now conducting in relation to the number of automobiles owned by the city and the cost and maintenance of the same. The commission believes the number of machines can be reduced without decreasing the efficiency of the department.

Lowell Opera House
Bernhardt in "Queen Elizabeth"—One of the most interesting dramatic moments in "Queen Elizabeth" is the spectacular photo-drama in which Mme. Sarah Bernhardt and an all star cast of players are to be seen at the Opera House for three days commencing Saturday evening August 31st. It is the third act of the play, after the execution of the Earl of Essex. The queen at last realizing that the Earl had returned her ring as a reminder of the queen's promise to come to his aid and save his life, she had the token sent her, summons the Countess of Nottingham and forces truth from her. As the confirmation of the vital fact that the Earl had asked for his life without seal is made, the supreme dramatic moment of this drama of blood and tears is reached and this wonderful French woman reaches the climax of her performance in a manner that thrills and holds the audience even in this old but unimpaired drama. The English and despair of the moment is depicted by Mme. Bernhardt in a production is fully realized although the spoken words are heard and the genius and power of her art make the scene one long to be remembered. The supporting company include such artists of prominence on the French stage as Messrs. Louis Tellegen, M. Maxudian, Denenberg, Piron and Mlle. Roman and Mme. Bonting as well as Misses. The scene and the costumes of the play is done in an elaborate manner and one worthy of the great star who interprets the central figure of the story. A full orchestra is used to interpret the musical music written for the production. Performances will be given here on

IRREGULAR AT FIRST BUT STOCKS GREW STEADIER DURING DAY
And the Market Closed Firm—Buying Orders were Concentrated in a Few Stocks in the Last Hour

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—Stocks opened with an irregular tendency at the opening of today's market. Steel selling ex-dividend gained a slight fraction with losses in coppers, Northern Pacific and Louisville and Nashville.

Apart from its extraordinary dullness, the market presented no features other than increased weakness in Louisville and Nashville and an abrupt decline in woolen pfd.

The extreme idleness of today's stock market clearly reflected the influence of the approaching holidays. Although the Texas indietments against Standard Oil company officials and a reported frost in the Canadian wheat belt spread opposition to Canadian Pacific stock while an indictment of a president of a large New England textile mill on labor conspiracy charges offered food for reflection. Leading issues held firm, however, the most conspicuous exception being Louisville and Nashville, whose heaviness expressed the disappointment of shareholders at the 4 per cent capital increase. Tobacco was again decidedly weak.

Some inactive specialties moved widely, including Omaha and Baldwin Locomotive, but the balance of the list was at a standstill.

The market closed firm. Buying orders were concentrated in a few stocks in the last hour, notably Canadian Pacific, Reading and Erie moved up sharply.

MODERN ESTATE TAX
NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—The executors of the estate of William Bayard Cutting, who died last March at Santa Fe, N. M., made a preliminary payment of $240,000 on the transfer tax at the office of the state comptroller in Albany yesterday. By making the payment within six months of the death of Mr. Cutting the estate received a rebate of a per cent, or $17,500.

The state collected a tax of 4 per cent on the bulk of the estate, which indicates that the total value of the estate will be more than $5,000,000. It consists largely of real estate. The preliminary does not always indicate the exact value of the estate, since the executors are permitted under the law to make up any difference in the tax found to be due when the estate is appraised, and still take advantage of the six months' rebate.

In Mr. Cutting's will $500,000 went to his son, Bronson Murray, with whom he was residing when he died, and $250,000 to his daughters, Miss E. B. Warren, Miss Gertrude Cutting, and Miss Olivia Cutting, and to his granddaughter, Miss Margaret Cutting, daughter of his deceased son, William Bayard Cutting, Jr. The testator left bequests of only $10,000 to persons outside of his family.

According to the preliminary appraisal the widow, Mrs. Olivia B. Cutting, was to receive the residuary estate, will inherit over $5,000,000.

INDICTMENTS WERE QUASHED

The indictments grew out of the Florida Everglades land sale, inquiry and pertained especially to payments for drainage in North Carolina.

DIED AT DEDICATION

ASSAULT MAY BE FATAL
WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—Doctor Luis Arriaga, formerly Honduran minister to Washington, was assaulted in Guatemala City on Aug. 28, according to state department reports today. The assault probably will be fatal.

Advices do not give the cause of the attack or the means employed by the assailant, who had not been apprehended. Arriaga was in Guatemala attempting to sell some property which he owned there.

SENT TO ELLIS ISLAND
NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—A. de Sazman, a planter from Ecuador, arrived yesterday on the United Fruit company's liner Santa Maria. With him were Mrs. de Sazman, three children, Della, aged 8; Angelina, aged 5; Carlos, six months, and Dr. and Mrs. F. de Ycaza. The quarantine officials discovered that Della had symptoms of infantile paralysis and sent her and the other children to Ellis Island for observation. The whole party transhipped to the island.

LAKEVIEW DANCE HALL
"Only a few more left," is what you hear at the summer dance halls and those who enjoy the art should not let any of these pleasant evenings pass by without going to the hall where dancing is enjoyed under perfect conditions. The floor is the best in the vicinity, the music on a par with any in the state, and the decorations and other effects exquisite. The vocal soloists by Ethel Knowlton complete the program for a pleasant evening.

MAY HARVEY A PLUCKY GIRL
NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—Miss May Harvey, 24 years of age, of 688 Eagle avenue, The Bronx, caused the arrest of William Cummings, a negro elevator man employed in a tea story building at 36 West Twentieth street, yesterday, charging him with robbery and assault.

Miss Harvey went to seek employment as a cloak model from a firm on the tenth floor. She told Lieut. Ivory of the West Seventeenth street police station that as soon as the elevator left the ground floor, Cummings made a grab at her pocket, which she values at $60. The chain broke and the pocket fell. Cummings, she said, then seized her handbag and took $20 from it.

She fought him off with her hatpin and screamed, arousing many people. She says he ran the elevator to the top and then down again to the ground floor. She was thrown violently against the glass doors, which were broken.

Cummings fled and hid in the cellar. Policeman Garigan found him there and took him to the West Seventeenth street station.

He says Miss Harvey called him an offensive name and attacked him with her hatpin and that he merely defended himself.

AT BAR HARBOR
CHAMP CLARK ATTENDED DEMOCRATIC RALLY THERE TODAY
BAR HARBOR, Me., Aug. 30.—Declaring that Governors Wilson and Marshall, who were nominated at the Baltimore convention as democratic standard bearers in the impending contest, are men of high character and that democrats are united in their support, Speaker Champ Clark at a democratic rally this afternoon delivered the first of two speeches in Hancock county today which will complete his assignments in the state campaign.

He added that this is as it should be for the chief work on hand is to rescue the government from "republican misadministration." He is anxious to see the democrats capture all three legislative branches of the government.

Speaker Clark arrived by steamer from Rockland and while here was the guest of Perry Belmont, joining Mrs. Clark, who had come direct from Portland. He will deliver his last address (his evening at Ellsworth, then proceed to Canobie lake, New Hampshire.

A cold, northwest wind caused a change in the arrangements for the rally and it was held in the Casino instead of on the village green. Congressman Samuel Gould of this district discussed state issues.

LAKEVIEW DANCE HALL
"Only a few more left," is what you hear at the summer dance halls and those who enjoy the art should not let any of these pleasant evenings pass by without going to the hall where dancing is enjoyed under perfect conditions. The floor is the best in the vicinity, the music on a par with any in the state, and the decorations and other effects exquisite. The vocal soloists by Ethel Knowlton complete the program for a pleasant evening.

MAY HARVEY A PLUCKY GIRL
NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—Miss May Harvey, 24 years of age, of 688 Eagle avenue, The Bronx, caused the arrest of William Cummings, a negro elevator man employed in a tea story building at 36 West Twentieth street, yesterday, charging him with robbery and assault.

Miss Harvey went to seek employment as a cloak model from a firm on the tenth floor. She told Lieut. Ivory of the West Seventeenth street police station that as soon as the elevator left the ground floor, Cummings made a grab at her pocket, which she values at $60. The chain broke and the pocket fell. Cummings, she said, then seized her handbag and took $20 from it.

She fought him off with her hatpin and screamed, arousing many people. She says he ran the elevator to the top and then down again to the ground floor. She was thrown violently against the glass doors, which were broken.

Cummings fled and hid in the cellar. Policeman Garigan found him there and took him to the West Seventeenth street station.

He says Miss Harvey called him an offensive name and attacked him with her hatpin and that he merely defended himself.

AT BAR HARBOR
CHAMP CLARK ATTENDED DEMOCRATIC RALLY THERE TODAY
BAR HARBOR, Me., Aug. 30.—Declaring that Governors Wilson and Marshall, who were nominated at the Baltimore convention as democratic standard bearers in the impending contest, are men of high character and that democrats are united in their support, Speaker Champ Clark at a democratic rally this afternoon delivered the first of two speeches in Hancock county today which will complete his assignments in the state campaign.

He added that this is as it should be for the chief work on hand is to rescue the government from "republican misadministration." He is anxious to see the democrats capture all three legislative branches of the government.

Speaker Clark arrived by steamer from Rockland and while here was the guest of Perry Belmont, joining Mrs. Clark, who had come direct from Portland. He will deliver his last address (his evening at Ellsworth, then proceed to Canobie lake, New Hampshire.

A cold, northwest wind caused a change in the arrangements for the rally and it was held in the Casino instead of on the village green. Congressman Samuel Gould of this district discussed state issues.

TOO MANY AUTOS
BOSTON, Aug. 29.—The finance commission in a communication to Mayor Fitzgerald yesterday requested that he take further steps toward selecting a site for a municipal garage until the commission has completed an investigation it is now conducting in relation to the number of automobiles owned by the city and the cost and maintenance of the same. The commission believes the number of machines can be reduced without decreasing the efficiency of the department.

Take me up to the Bannings.
Small accounts solicited and appreciated at the Old Lowell National Bank.

AMUSEMENT NOTES
Lowell Opera House
Bernhardt in "Queen Elizabeth"—One of the most interesting dramatic moments in "Queen Elizabeth" is the spectacular photo-drama in which Mme. Sarah Bernhardt and an all star cast of players are to be seen at the Opera House for three days commencing Saturday evening August 31st. It is the third act of the play, after the execution of the Earl of Essex. The queen at last realizing that the Earl had returned her ring as a reminder of the queen's promise to come to his aid and save his life, she had the token sent her, summons the Countess of Nottingham and forces truth from her. As the confirmation of the vital fact that the Earl had asked for his life without seal is made, the supreme dramatic moment of this drama of blood and tears is reached and this wonderful French woman reaches the climax of her performance in a manner that thrills and holds the audience even in this old but unimpaired drama.
